PILE'S DEATH.

New York Police Have not Solved the Mystery of It.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The police hus far have failed to secure any clew WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The police thus far have failed to secure any clew to the mystery surrounding the death of A. H. Pile, the son of ex-Representative Pile of California, who has been in temporary charge of the silver national headquarters. When the body was found in the Potomac, the shoes and hat were missing. There is a theory that he was a victim of knockout drops at a gambling resort, but this is discredited by the fact that his silver watch was found on him. It is stated that Pile had been drinking when last seen Tuesday night, a week ago. He was fond of games of chance. While no evidence of foul play has been found, the police found nothing to indicate that the dead man committed suicide. It may be that because of the excessive heat he went over to the river front, removed his shoes and hat in order to get cool, and accidentally fell overboard.

sne is to Be Brought to the Fore Where it Belongs - Political Speakers are to Be Sent Out.

(BY THE TIMES' SPECIAL WIRE.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—(Special Dispatch.) The Sun's Washington special says that Congressman Mercer, secre-tary of the Republican Congress Com-mittee, is authority for the statement that the tariff issue is to be pressed to the front in the western campaign from this time. He says the silver question has been worn threadbare in the West because it has been the issue in politics there for the last ten years. The plan of campaign in the Western States is to organize Republican clubs to go into the country and give political picnics.

The announcement of Secretary Mer cer that the tariff question is to be put to the front confirms the statement made here a few days ago, by one of the men who attended the Mark Hanna conference in Philadelphia last week. Surrounded by a select company of Republicans and sound-money men invited to meet the manager of the Mc-Kinley campaign, Hanna surprised some of his entertainers by declaring that the tariff issue ought to be linked with the money issue, and told the Philadel-phians that as soon as he reached home the necessary orders would be sent out to all of the Republican workers in the field. Hanna added that he believed satisfactory results could be procured by a full and fair presentation of the issue to the people by means of practical illustrations and object-les-the fact was recalled that the laboring vote never has failed to respond to sound argument and object-lessons, and it is believed that a number of original and striking illustrations of the fallacies of the free-silver argument and the neces-sity for additional revenue will bring into the Republican column those working men inclined to be dazzled by the glare of free silver.

It is claimed that while the returns are incomplete, they establish the general character of the whole.

In taking this position, however, I have not departed in the slightest degree from the principles I have maintained in the past, as my record will clearly show. In the Senate I have always voted and spoken for the free and independent coinage of silver. I long and earnestly believed that the Republican party would give bimetallism to the people.

"In my judgment the national convention at St. Louis erred in surrendering, as it did, to the money power of this nation and Europe. The plank adopted there could not result otherwise than An driving out of the party a large and influential element. But while I stand for the free coinage of silver, I in nowise abandon my views on the tariff. I am for protection. I believe in a system of protection that will benefit every section of the country—that will apply to our products as well as to the manufactures of the East."

To answer comprehensively all the many questions relative to the currency question that has been pouring in. Secretary Carlisle some time ago caused to be prepared Circular No. 113, a pamphlet of fifty-three printed pages, giving much information respecting bond issues, paper currency and the like. When application for information was received the answer to which could be found in the pamphlet, the bureau chief receiving the letter would simply mail one of these circulars to the applicant in place of writing out an answer. This has been going on for almost a week and there is no telling how many circulars were sent out when a letter came to hand from one of the recipients, calling attention to the fact that the department had sent him in answer to his question, a copy of a strong silver speech delivered by Senator Stewart in the Senate September 5 last, when a filibuster was going on. many questions relative to the currency

An examination of the piles of circulars lying in the department showed that in some way the public printing office had bound up in the cover purporting to state the contents of the pamphlet, a number of the silver speeches. The officials say they have found only seventeen of the speeches so far, but there is no means of learning just how many of them have been sent out under the guise of sound financial statistics.

At Republican head-quarters letters from Kansas, Iowa and Missouri all spoke of improvement in the political outlook, and said all that was needed at this time was great quantities of financial literature. The Democratic Campaign Commit-

The document first quotes Bryan's declaration that the farmer or the hired demployé is as much a business man as the banker or the big merchant. It then gives a list of the number of persons employed in fourteen gainful pursuits, including agriculture, mining, manufacturing and transportation, the purpose being to show the comparatively small percentage comprised under the head of bankers, brokers, wholesalers and corporation officers ar business men, while from the Democratic standpoint the millions of farmers, producers and laborers of all classes are as much business men as the few who live, strive and flourish by trading in the product of labor.

Horrible Fate of the Foreman and Four Others.

Eight Persons Injured and Two More Missing-Human Beings Sheeted in Flame-A Fatal Leap

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—(Special Dispatch.) Five lives were lost in the fire which took place today in Warren & Co.'s Electrical Supply Factory on Greenwich street. Eight persons were injured, of which number several may die and two persons are missing. The total loss by fire is estimated at $200,000. The firm employed sixty-two persons. Only a few of these were at work on the office floor. The flames, aided by the elevator shaft, quickly reached the upper elevator, driving before them all em-ployes, who had not left the building. The greater number of these reached the roof in safety and escaped to the adjoining buildings, but some of them delayed and as a result lost their lives or received serious injuries. Those who gained the roof at first could see nothing. Then the current of air tore the cloud asunder and be-low, on the fire escape, they made out dimly the figure of William Gray, their foreman. His hands were before his face, and he writhed to and fro. "Gray, Gray," yelled men on the roof.

This way, this way," feebly waving his hands before him the man looked upward. He was dazed and weak, and for a minute did not comprehend that aid was at hand. On the whole stretch of roof there was not a bit of rope. Here and there men scurried, looking for something to lower to the dying man, and then in a frenzy one tore away a length of telegraph wire stretched along the roof. Racing back to the coping, the man leaned over and let down its end. By this time the men could see nothing.

TYRONE (Pa.) Aug. 11.—About two hundred and fifty men and women waded through the mud and water in the ditch beside the track to catch the hands of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan, cheering with spirit. Again Bland responded to calls for a speech. He said the masses of the laboring people want a change of financial system, so that it will not be necessary to have continued bond sales.

A TALK AT HUNTINGTON.

A TALK AT HUNTINGTON.

HUNTINGTON (Pa.,) Aug. 11.—To the 500 people at the depot when the Bryan train arrived, and who volced a glad welcome, Bland spoke as follows:

"My friends and fellow-citizens: There are people in this country who claim that Uncle Sam is not able to maintain his own financial system, and that we must wait for an international agreement. In 1873, when the free-silver-coinage law passed the House and was pending in the Senate, the claim was made, and whenever the silver question comes up for solution, and the American people are about ready to adopt a policy of our own, we are told we are not able to accomplish anything without the aid of England or other European countries: The United States is able to maintain its own financial policy without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation. (Applause.)

"We recently had an international chair policy without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation. (Applause.)

"We recently had an international conference at Brussels. Everybody was in favor of bimetallism, but nobody seemed to be able to devise a plan for that proposition. It reminds one, when people ask to wait and wait for an international agreement, of a criminal who is arraigned at the bar of justice, and who is about to be tried and convicted for his 'cfime, and who files a motion supplemented with false statements and fallacious affidavits for a continuance. We propose to restore to the people the old system of bimetallism with the free coinage of both gold and silver. (Great applause.) We intend to stop the selling of bonds and the borrowing of money from Europe, and we intend to open the American mints and let the people dig from the earth the metal from which to make their money. We are for the American people.

"My friends, the greetings we have had on this journey have been marvel-ous. At every stopping-point there has been an outpouring of the popu-lace, who have cheered us on our way lace, who have cheered us on our way in a manner which makes us know that the masses are interested as they have never been before, in the politics of this country. It shows that you have paid no attention to a subsidized gold press, and that you intend to think for yourselves without being bossed, and that you intend to vote for silver next November. I ask you to organize silver clubs—organize in every town and in every hamlet, and Pennsylvania will give a free-silver majority in November next." (Great applause.)

There were loud cries for Bryan, but Bland explained that the nominee had been speaking day and night for three or four days, and that he was to make the speech at the notification meeting tomorrow. He threfore asked them to excuse Bryan from addressing the audience.

FIGHT AMONG THE MASSES. LEWISTOWN JUNCTION, (Pa.,) Aug. 11.—At this place it was the same as at the other places. Bryan shook hands with a few hundred people who had gathered at the depot and Bland addressed them, telling them how im-possible it was for Bryan to speak. Bland said:

and said: Ladies and gentlemen: We are always glad to meet the enthusiastic crowds, such as we meet here and such as we have met on our journey and shake hands with the crowd. I wish shake hands with the crowd. I wish to ask you to have a silver club in your town. There is a great fight among the masses of the American people and without organization it cannot make a successful fight. So far as you are concerned, I know that you realize that the money question is the dominant question, as it is in my district and throughout the country. We wish to stop the selling of bonds, bonding the people of this country; we want the unlimited coinage of silver in order to do this."

Bland spoke briefly, after he had been assurance that such countries will

AT HIS DESTINATION.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE) NEW YORK, Aug. 11.-William Jer nings Bryan stepped upon the soil of the Empire State tonight for the first time since his nomination for the Presidency. It was an event both in his career and in the general canvass for the Presidency, of no small moment. It was practically a step into the wowed section of opposition to his can-

It was practically a step into the avowed section of opposition to his candidacy; an opposition not on party lines, but said to exist within the party under whose emblem he looks for victory in November.

If, however, the ordeal was one that would make nervous the average man, its effect upon Bryan was not, to the observer, of that character. Pryan stepped from the train and grasped the hand of Senator Jones, chairman of the Democratic Committee. His greeting showed not on iota of nervousness or fear, but rather a tinge of bravery in facing the ordeal, or a gladness at being among those with whom he could discuss and argue the great issues of the campaign.

The crowd that gathered at the Jersey City station of the Pennsylvania Railway to greet the Bryan party was not as large as had been expected, a thousand people in all, probably, paying their way to the ferry-house in order to see the redoubtable orator from the West. But it was a crowd that made the fifty Jersey City policemen displayevery bit of their ability in subduing those who were enthusiastic to the core. It was a crowd that was quite as cosmopolitan in its nature as it was evidently Democratic in its proclivities and sympathles. The majority of the men stood with their coats off, to relieve themselves of the terrific heat. There were a few women in the crowd. Awaiting the arrival of the train, the crowd amused itself by watching Chairman Jones, Vice-Presidential Nominee Sewall, W. P. St. John and National Committeeman Tomlinson of Indiana eating a modest repast in the railroad restaurant. A large majority of the crowd that purchased ferry tickets entitling them to passage to New York City, and it was evident from their actions afterward that they expected to ride on the same boat with the Bryan party. One anxious individual inquired of Sergeant-at-arms Oilver of the Democratic National Committee: "Does he go in a special boat?" Oliver responded with a contempt that almost withered the questioner: "No, he's a Democrat." And so he was. When Mrs. Bryan alighted Tomlinson took her in charge and hurried her along the private passage-way which the police had laid out for the party to pass through. She was hardly noticed by the crowd, and took the first boat out

She was hardly noticed by the crowd, and took the first boat out of the slip, while her husband and the remainder of the party followed behind the struckling rolling to of the slip, while her husband and the remainder of the party followed behind the struggling police to a second boat. To go a distance of less than a hundred feet it took the party some fifteen minutes or more. The police threatened with their batons and hustled and jostled people to clear a passageway. The mob was good-natured, but insistent and demanded in anything but ducet tones that Bryan should speak. He smiled and shook his head in refusal, and then the crowd called for Sewall. Finally the police made a way and the party reached the boat. They went upstairs into the pilot's cabin while at least two-thirds of the crowd surged in upon the lower deck, and, as the ferry plowed its way to the Desbrosses-street slip, kept shouting their approval of the candidate and his principles.

When the boat reached the dock in New York, Capt. Cross, with a cordon of police, held the crowd aboard the boat for a few minutes, while Bryan. Sewall and the remainder of the party entered a carriage in waiting. When they got outside the ferry gates they found at least five hundred more people awaiting, and, although they made all diligent efforts to allow the carriage to proceed, it was stopped several times, the last time being when the

His voice is also in bad condition, and he will not be able to make any remarks until he speaks in the evening.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon, Mrs. Bland and Mrs. Bryan will receive the women of New York at the Bartholdi Hotel, Bryan resting all the afternoon. His speech is finished, and will be read from manuscript. manuscript.

After the meeting at the Garden he will speak from the balcony of the Bar-tholdi. Mr. and Mrs. Bland, Mrs. Bryan and Mrs. Stone of Missouri wil occupy a box at the Madison Square

Glad to Die for Cuba.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 11.—(Special Dispatch.) Sergt. Lorenzo Guallaro, a Cuban, who for seventeen months has seen active service in the revolutionary army, arrived today. He tells some thrilling stories of military life on the island. He said:

"I was spattered with the life-blood of Gen. José Maceo. I was right at his side when he fell, at Loma del Gato. I helped to carry him from the field, and also helped to bury him at Songo. We had won the battle of Loma del Gato, and just as the retiring Spanish disappeared over a hill to the left of the battleground, Gen. Maceo jumped the battleground, Gen. Maceo jumped from his horse and stood with one arm on the pommel of his saddle and the other outstretched, giving orders for our return to camp. His back was turned to the enemy. Suddenly a shot rang out, and Maceo reeled and with a cry fell to the ground.

"Blood spurted from a fearful wound in the back of his neck. The bullet went right through his neck, coming out in front. He cried: 'I won the fight. I am glad to die. Cuba, Cuba.' He lingered nearly an hour and then died. Next day we carried him to Songo and buried him. We could not afford to expend cartridges in firing a salute over his grave."

Sergt. Guallaro said there is no truth in the statement frequently made that there are dissentions between the whites and blacks in the armies of Cuba.

A WAR WITH AMERICA. HAVANA, Aug. 11.—La Lucha has an editorial this evening commenting upon the opinion expressed by Señor Sagasta, the Spanish Liberal, in an interview, that the Cortes ought to vote financial credits for the government, as he believed in the possibility of a war between the United States and Spain.

La Lucha says that it is natural to suppose, in view of affairs actually happening, which are neither honorable nor satisfactory, and which are even humiliating, that a moment may arise when Spain will have to break off relations with the nation acting and conducting its affairs in such a manner and availing itself of futile pretexts for so doing. HAVANA, Aug. 11.-La Lucha has an

It is a good system of politics, the It is a good system of politics, the paper says, for Americans, but it is unpleasant to Spain's interests and sense of honor. A logical deduction from the situation, the article says, would be war between Spain and the United States. Spain would not be content to withdraw her representative from Washington as an act of protest. National pride would compel more adequate measures or popular sentiment would prove a source of probable danger to the highest institutions.

for they cannot pass through the clearing-house.

"The agitation of the silver question is responsible for considerable uneasiness among the people and has made a greater demand than usual for gold, until it is at a small premium."

During the past two months the supply of gold coin in the sub-treasury has decreased from about $15,000,000 to less than $9,000,000. The decrease includes a shipment of $3,000,000 in gold made last month by Assistant United States Treasurer Berry to the sub-treasury in New York City. This enormous shrinkage was one of the prime causes which led to the issuance by Assistant Treasurer Berry of the now famous order which stopped the redemption of silver certificates in gold coin, a practice which was followed by his predecessors for many years.

"A Shining Example."

(Winchester Recorder:) The Los Angeles Times is a shining example of journalistic enterprise. Boats arrive at Catalina Island at six o'clock in the evening, with mail and passengers, but it would be contrary to all principles of the Times management to deliver news twelve hours old to its readers. Instead of waiting for the regular boat service a fat budget of papers is sent by fast pony express to San Pedro, where it is met by the ambitious little Linda, one of the speedlest boats on the coast, and reaches Avalon at about 10 o'clock in the morning. It is delivered not only by carriers on land, but out on the briny, where the fishing boats of all kinds congregate, it is possible to buy the morning dally any time after 10.30 o'clock until noon. Passengers returning from Catalina on the steamer may read the news of the day at nine o'clock or a little later, as the Time's boat on its way to the island meets the steamer out in the channel and leaves a bundle of papers fresh from the press. Every day the Catalina news is carried by homing pigeons to the Times office, and appears in print the next morning.

LATER:—A good breeze tempered the heat to the suffering people of this city today, although the thermometer registered 92 deg. being only 1 deg, lower than yesterday. The deadly effects of the high temperature, however, continued, and thirty fatal cases of sunstroke were reported up to midnight, with the list still incomplete. About fifty cases of prostration, more or less serious, have also occurred. A shower at 7 o'clock sensibly cooled off the atmosphere, but only for a short shower at 7 o'clock sensibly cooled off the atmosphere, but only for a short

The number of persons driven insane by the heat will probably never be known, but its effects in that direction may be estimated from the fact that during the week twenty-eight persons have been locked up in the detention hospital, all of whom have been driven crazy by the heat. There are about eight hundred dead horses still unremoved on the streets, the city being unable to secure sufficient assistance to cart as many away as daily succumb to the heat. The Mayor has issued an order guaranteeing $10 to any one who will remove one of the cadavers. The number of persons driven insane

MODERATE RELIEF.

The Area of High Barometer Moving Eastward. (BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The Weather Bureau tonight holds out moderate relief for the Eastern and Central States, within the next twenty-four hours. It was with some pride that Maj. Dunwoody tonight referred to the area of high barometer which he sighted off the Rockies last night The area, then central over the Mississippi Valley, moved to the northeast and toright was bound to sea over the sippi Valley, moved to the northeast and toright was bound to sea over the St. Lawrence Valley, dragging the high heats in its wake. Then came the fall of temperature which panting humanity has been waiting for so impatiently for ten days or more.

Montana, Colorado, Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska felt its cool breath and enjoyed a fall of temperature of from 10 to 15 deg. It traveled about five hundred miles in twenty-four hours. Maj. Dunwoody says it will move eastward at a more rapid pace during the next twenty-four hours and be central over the Ohio Valley and the lower lakes region tonight, and reach the Atlantic Coast by Thursday morning. Altogether this protracted hot spell can be classed as remarkable. The high temperature in the prairic country has lasted twenty days; in the Western Gulf States a fortnight and on the Atlantic seaboard a week.

The highest temperatures today were: Philadelphia, 98; New York and Albany, 94; Washington, 94; Norfolk, Va., 98; Montgomery, Ala., 98; Abllene, Kan., 98; St. Louis, 96; Chicago, 94. Along the Pacific Coast the mercury ranged from 60 to 70, but at some points back, thirty miles inland, from San Francisco, the thermometer registered 100 deg.

Campaign Incident.

(Puck.) "Fellow-citizens," said the Nebraska candidate, "last week I was offered a gold piece and I scorned to take it: I spurned it from me; I spat with disgust upon it, base money of the plutocrats."

The chairman of the meeting rose to his feet.

The chairman his feet.

"What's that you sald you did?" he asked, incredulously.

The story was repeated, and the chairman faced the meeting.

"Boys," he said, in a voice full of suppressed emotion. "I move that this feller's a dod-blasted fool!"

The motion was vigorously carried.

CANADA'S PREMIER. An Interesting Talk with Wilfred

He has a very attractive face and manner, and one cannot talk with him five minutes without detecting the secret of his power in politics. He is fairly worshiped by the French portion of the population. When I told Mr. Laurier that the victory of the Liberal party in Canada and his appointment as Premier were considered good cause for congratulations in the United States, as they offered hope for more friendly relations between the two countries, he smiled and said:

"I appreciate the kindly feeling of your people most sincerely, and I am sure their confidence has not been misplaced. The Liberal government which has just taken office desires and intends to signalize its administration by tends to signalize its administration by a renewal of neighborly relations with our friends across the border. Some a renewal of neighborly relations with our friends across the border. Some years ago, when considerable friction had been created by the North Atlantic fishery troubles, I took an opportunity to say that the question should be adjudged in a manner becoming an enlightened and friendly people by simple process of give and take, and I do not see now why it should not make an arrangement resembling that effected under the treaty of Washington in 1871, and the treaty of 1854, whereby not only the ports, but the inshore waters of both would be on equal terms and the markets for the fish of the two countries be equally free. That, it seems to me, would be the sensible way of settling the fisherje would be more valuable to the United States and Canada alike if some such an arrangement were adopted.

"'Then,' replied Mr. Laurier, in answer to a question as to the canal question,' up to date we spent $60,000,000 on our canals and are aiming at a twenty-foot channel from Lake Erie through Welland Canal and the canals below Kingston to Montreal. It goes without saying that very great benefits would be conferred upon the farmers of the Western and Northwestern States, no less, of course, than upon the farmers Western and Northwestern States, no less, of course, than upon the farmers of the Canadian Northwest, if the great-lake steamers could load at Port Arthur and Duluth and carry produce without breaking bulk, as they have to do now at the Welland and again at Prescott, right through to Ogdensburg, Kingston, Oswego, Montreal or Quebec, and carry back merchandise and manufactures for the western settlers at cheap rates. Farm produce is low the world over, cowing to the immense production which modern science, the self-binder, the railroad and the compound marine engine have rendered possible, and so far as I can see, it is not likely to reach its former price for some time, if ever. "A twenty-foot channel from Lake Superior and Lake Michigan to the Atlantic Ocean would reduce the cost of lantic Ocean would reduce the cost of what the farmer has to buy from the Eastern States, and give him lower transportation rates for what he has to sell. Suppose that a reduced rate on the lakes and the St. Lawrence would oblige railroads north—that is in Can-ada—and south—that is in the United States—to meet it with equally low rates to and from the seaboard during

The article is too long to be reproduced here, but the following extract from it will make clear its purport. After stating that the missionary society is conducted on regular banking principles, the missionary secretaries drawing on the main office for the funds required, the article says: "The banks always receive them (the drafts.) and, after careful comparison with the appropriation for possible errors, they are honored when they are presented, The commercial world, civilized and heathen, is on a gold basis. We have reason to know that. For instance, China is a silver country and is running nominally on a silver basis. But it is a most notable comment on the currency question that there is not a single bank in all Chine that will touch currency question that there is not a single bank in all China that will touch one of our drafts or give it a moment's consideration unless the word 'gold' is stamped across the face of it. We can-not get money from any of those banks unless we promise to pay them back in gold. We have no choice in the matter. It is 'no gold, no advance on the drafts.' We can't get along without those drafts, and so, finally and conclusively, we must have gold.

We would have to spend needed money to pay premiums on gold; money that is now being used in legitimate church work. It would cut us way down. In Favor of the Incubator.

In Favor of the Incubator.

(George Ohleyer, Jr., in the Pacific Rural Press.) Having read in the poultry department of the Rural for April 25 the article entitled "In Favor of the Hen," and being somewhat of a chicken crank, I wish to say a word or two in favor of the incubator. My friend in Washington says he has tried three different makes of incubators with very discouraging results, having hatched but 621 chicks from 4000 eggs. Now, my experience has been quite different from his. He says he can hatch at least 75 per cent. more chicks with the old hen than with the incubator. I think I can hatch at least 75 per cent. more with the incubator. I use the Invincible hatcher, a 200-egg machine, and get on an average about one hundred and sixty chicks after testing out the investigation. an average about one hundred and sixty chicks, after testing out the inertile eggs. Now, then, estimating from his figures, let us see how we skity chicks, after testing out the infertile eggs. Now, then, estimating from his figures, let us see how we come out.

He says he gets from his hens an average of nine chicks from every thirteen eggs. Now, in 200 eggs there would be fifteen sittings and five eggs over; so, by taking four eggs from every thirteen, we would be taking out sixty eggs, leaving 140, which is less than I ever hatched, when starting with a full machine.

I have a neighbor who recently hatched 128 chicks from 132 eggs, using a Petaluma incubator. In using an incubator, you never have to worry for fear it might leave its nest and spoil a lot of choice eggs, not to speak of the advantage of having little chicks start out in life free from lice, which everyone must admit is the greatest blessing that can befall a brood of little chickens.

Another point in favor of incubators is that when you get ready to hatch you do not have to wait for your hens to go to sitting, which is generally late in the spring, especially when one keeps the laying class of fowls.

I keep mostly White Leghorns and Black Minoreas, and I know if I depended on them for hatching I wouldn't raise many chickens, as I have hens three years old that have never wanted to sit yet, and what few I have set usually sit a week or so and then leave their nests.

I have run my hatcher three seasons with very satisfactory results, and I think if I was to hatch but one chick

LOS ANGELES, Cal. July 21.—(10 the discovery of gold in California and its almost immediate colnage in heavy amounts have any influence in turning the United States toward a gold standard? I have no figures at hand, but would like to know how much gold California produced between 1849 and 1873, when silver was demonetized.

G. H. California produced $10,000,000 in gold in 1848. This was increased to $40,000,000 in 1851; $50,000,000 in 1852; $55,000,000 in 1851; $50,000,000 in 1852; $55,000,000 in 1853; then fell to $60,000,000 in 1852; $55,000,000 in 1853; $55,000,000 in 1853; $55,000,000 in 1855; the same in 1857; $50,000,000 in 1858; the same in 1857; $50,000,000 in 1858; the same in 1853; $45,000,000 in 1860; and $40,000,000 in 1851. Then there was a decrease to $34,700,000 in 1862; $30,000,000 in 1854. This was about the average annual production until 1873. From 1848 to and including 1872 California produced $831,800,000 in 1861 the was $9,000,000; in 1850, nearly $32,000,000; in 1851; to wer $50,000,000; in 1852; hearly $57,000,000; in 1853, less than $40,000,000; in 1851 it went up to $33,395,000. In 1867 the colnage went down as low as $17,552,000, but in 1873 it went up to $57,000,000. It was only $35,254,000 in 1874, but was $62,000.000 in 1880, and nearly $37,000,000 in 1881.

Later in the day a second radiograph was taken, with an exposure of fifteen minutes, three times that of the other successful plate. This was even more satisfactory than the other, showing clearly the entire outlines of the skull, the bones of the face, the teeth, the hyoid or tongue bone, the vertebrae of the neck, and the atlas bone. The bullet was more clearly shown than in the other plate, and in the same part of the skull.

The word radiograph is a new one, used to designate the photographs made by the X rays, as distinguished from those made by the light of the sun. Prof. Bumpus has been located at the college, and has obtained some remarkble radiographs.

[THE PUBLIC SERVICE.] A TAME STORY.

Emanuel F. Coronel's Testimony Creates No Sensation.

George D. Mings Says He Did not Murder Hays.

Jail Furniture Bids Considered by the Building Committee of the City Council—Police Commission Meeting-Other Matters.

At the City Hall yesterday the Po-lice Commission held its regular weekly meeting, disposing of the usual amount of department business. The Bullding Committee of the Council discussed the jail furniture bids. cussed the jail furniture bids. The Supply Committee of the Board of Education made a tour of the local hardware houses, to secure bids on the manual-training tools needed by

At the Courthouse yesterday George D. Mings related his acts on the day previous to the night of the murder and said that he was in his own home asleep at the time of the commission of the crime. This statement was sub stantiated by other witnesses. A big water suit has been filed relating to the San Gabriel River water and the rights of numerous consumers. Azusa, Covina and Duarte are affected. Manuel F. Coronel was in the witness box yesterday, but gave no testimony of a sensational character. POLICE COMMISSION.

ROUTINE BUSINESS WAS TRANS-ACTED BY THE BOARD.

Considered-Bids to Supply Fur niture for the New City Jail Discussed by the Building Com-

The Board of Police Commissioners met in regular session yesterday morning to attend to such matters as veekly meeting.

A number of applications for per mits to stand on the streets were re-ceived from hackmen, and the clerk was instructed to issue such permits where the application was accompa-nied with the necessary permission from property-owners in the vicinity. The Chief reported that Officer Craig against whom charges of desertion and ill treatment have been preferred by his wife, has effected a settlement of the trouble, rendering it unneces of the trouble, rendering it unnecessary for the commission to further consider the case.

A bill against Officer Arguello, from D. Folx, a baker on Macy street, amounting to $12.30 was presented to the board by Mr. Folx, who alleged that the money had been due him since August, 1894. The Chief was directed to notify Arguello that the bill must be settled at once.

The Chief called the attention of the board to the lack of a telephone in his future private office at the new jail, explaining that it would be necessary to have such an instrument.

Jali, explaining that it would be nec-essary to have such an instrument. The commission accordingly recom-mended to the Council that a tele-phone be provided as desired by the Chief.

J. O. Simons was appointed a spe-cial officer by the board to serve as dog-catcher.

John E. Hamilton to himself.

During the meeting a woman giving the name of Ryan, living at No. 2125 Trinity street, complained to the commission that her son, A. H. Ryan, had been deprived of a permit to carry a concealed weapon.

The Mayor explained that A. H. Ryan had been reported by an officer as being "too fresh with his gun," and he (the Mayor) had accordingly revoked the permit. This being the case, the board dismissed the woman's complaint at once.

The letter received by Dr. Steddom from the San Francisco Board of Health in reference to tuberculosis in cows will be considered by the Board of Health at its meeting this afternoon. The letter was published in The Times several weeks ago, and contains a request that the local board combine with the San Francisco board in stamping out tuberculosis, which is said to exist the San Francisco board in stamping out tuberculosis, which is said to exist in cattle throughout the State.

Dr. Steddom has taken no action in the matter, preferring to have the contents of the letter discussed by the Board of Health, and following this, instructions given him by the board with reference to the course that he shall pursue.

Trying to Get "Sloyd" Rids The Supply Committee of the Board The Supply Committee of the Board of Education went to work in earnest yesterday morning to secure bids from the local hardware merchants on the Sloyd or manual training supplies, discussion of which created such a rumpus in the board meeting last Monday evening. Chairman Grubb of the Supply Committee, accompanied by Mr.

Kunou, the Sloyd director, made a tour of the hardware houses and explained to the dealers the exact nature of the supplies needed or desired. Three firms, the Union Hardware Company and Harper & Reynolds announced their intention of filing bids on the supplies. These bids will probably be received in a few days.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Library Directors was to have been held yesterday, but as a quorum was not present the meeting was post-poned until August 31. Mrs. Fowler, the librarian, is taking her annual va-cation, her place being filled by Miss Austin. The report of the librarian for the month of July includes the following statistics:

Circulation of books, home, 31,559;
Ilbrary, 8135; reference, 4018. Membership, 24,531; July additions, 449; total membership, 24,863; books on hand, 43,-683; magazines added, 11; books mended, 3550; books rebound, 620; donations, 38.

Jail Furniture Bids.

The City Council will meet in special session this morning to receive the re-port of the Building Committee with reference to the bids on furniture and electrical fixtures for the new Central Police Station. The bids were considered by the Building Committee yesterday afternoon, but the report will not be prepared until today. The bids, as made and received by the Council, were published in The Times of yesterday.

Permits for building purposes were issued yesterday as follows:

John Farrell, a dwelling on Crocker street between Sixth and Seventh streets, to cost $872.

upon a chicken-house and the chicken-yard fence until about 3 p.m., when Cook came to his house and they went over to Perry's to see about a piece of clover; they were at Perry's but a short time before returning, less than half an hour. Cook had come to get a wagon and team to haul wood and remained only a few minutes; George Mings went back to his work and at about 5:30 o'clock went in to supper; after supper he milked the cows, came in and strained the milk. He said he now went out to the barnyard and drove about

This was the substance of their testimony.

Attorney J. R. Rush now stepped into the witness box and testified that he was in Puente on the Sunday following the murder of Hays and had a long conversation with Bryant and that he (Bryant) stated to him repeatedly that he could form no opinion as to the identity of the murderers, neither by their clothes nor by their voices.

G. W. Dobbins, T. J. Wiggins and T. J. Pullee of El Monte were called to prove the general reputation of Bert Cummings for truth, veracity and other cardinal virtues. These witnesses swore that his reputation was bad.

The defense expects to put Fred Prouty of El Monte in the witness box this morning. Messrs. Davis and Rush say they expect to prove by this witness that within two or three days before the murder Bert Cummings and Roney Crane passed through or near El Monte and that Cummings came to Prouty where he was at work in a field and before leaving requested him to say nothing about having seen him.

G. W. Dobbins was asked while in the witness box if an attempt had not been made to rob his store on the night of the Puente murder. The prosecution interposed strong objections and the witness was not permitted to answer the question.

The trust instrument was now shown to Coropel and when asked who had written the names thereto, he declared that the signers had done so. The witnesses, Cruz and Guzman, he stated, were present as well as himself, Soledad, (Francisco Yndart's mother) and A. F. Coronel. He was acquainted with Mrs. Garfas and described her home as being located on the hillside in the vicinity of Hill and Fourth streets. Mrs. Yndart, he declared, lived with Mrs. Garfas. Manuel said his wife had gone over to Mrs. Garfas's house and brought Mrs. Yndart tof the Coronel orchard at the time the instrument was signed.

He was asked if in June. 1894, he had a conversation with Antonius about the document and stated emphatically that he had never had a conversation with Antonius about the document and stated emphatically that he had never had a conversation with Antonius on the subject.

Coronel stated that he had probably met Quantarius, but had never shown him any paper nor asked him to secure a witness; had never asked him to perform any act respecting any paper; he admitted that he was acquainted with José Sanchez; had first met him on familiar terms during the political campaign of Sheriff Burr's. When asked if he had requested that individual to secure a witness to the paper, and had shown him the document with the name of Guzman not appearing as a witness, he answered that he had never made any such request and had never held the paper with any witness's name lacking.

Manuel Coronel was asked by the plaintiff's attorneys if he had requested that individual to secure a witness to make a case for Pancho and had provided Sanchez with written instructions regarding the latter seeing good lawyers to ascertain Pancho's rights? Coronel admitted that he had given Sanchez written instructions but denied having stated to anyone that the paper was not authentic.

Coronel was now taken in hand by Senator White and subjected to a severe cross-examination. The

A natural flow of the San Gabriel River of four miles through these ranchos is claimed by the plaintiffs, and further, that more than twenty years ago the inhabitants and owners of the land within said territory of Azusa, Duarte and Covina, including these plaintiffs and their predecessors in interest, appropriated all of the water flowing in the bed of said river, in the sumer season, for the irrigation and domestic uses of the inhabitants of said localities and constructed extensive dams and ditches for the purpose of diverting said water so appropriate to the extent of more than two thousand four hundred inches; and that from time to time these works have been increased until they are of sufficient capacity to carry more than five thousand miner's inches.

A TEST CASE.

UNCLE SAM CAN CARRY HIS SOL-DIERS FOR HALF-FARE.

Railroad Attacks the Validity of an Act of Congress Fixing Charges for Transporting Government Troops-The Decision

case of great importance was decided yesterday in the United States District Court and the decision was a victory for the government that, as a precedent, may involve millions. The land-grant railroads have for many years questioned the right Congress to fix the rate of fare which they shall charge for transporting troops and munitions of war. The decision in question sustains the govern-troops and munitions of war. The decision in question sustains the government's position.

The suit was brought by the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, and, though directly involving only a trivial sum, it was a test case and has been ably conducted by experienced counsel. On October 30, 1892, the railroad transported a United States trooper, Philip Barrett, from Isleta Junction, N. M., to Prescott, Ariz, a distance of 428 miles. The regular fare was $26.45, but the Secretary of War, under authority from Congress, had fixed a half-fare rate. Accordingly the sum of $13.23 was tendered to the railroad, but it was refused and suit was brought to recover the entire fare. The case was argued at the January term by Judge Terry and Mr. Herrin, of San Francisco, for the railroad and in behalf of the government by John H. Call, Esq., special assistant United States Attorney.

The act under which the Atlantic and Pacific Company was organized provides that the railroad shall be apost route and military road, and that it shall be subject to such regulations as Congress may impose, restricting the charges for transporting troops, munitions of war, military supplies and property, should be fixed by the Secretary of War, and that the rate should in no case exceed 50 per cent, of the fare charged to private individuals. Accordingly, the Secretary of War issued an order that the realizoad should charge for carrying United States troops, one-half of the regular fare.

Judge Wellborn in his decision, held that Congress had full authority for ment's position.

fixing transportation rates, either directly or through the medium of the Secretary of War. Judgment was given for the government, and, inasmuch as a tender of the fare had been made, costs were taxed against the railroad company. While the amount involved in the case is so small, the real question at issue is a most important one. It affects the cost of transporting the mails as well as troops and if the contention of the railroad company had been sustained, the increased cost to the government would ultimately have reached a very large sum.

Meeting of the McKinley Club

The McKinley Club has decided to engage the rooms formerly used by the California Club as a permanent headquarters for the club. This decision was made at a business meeting of the club, held in its present quar-ters last evening. The meeting next Tuesday evening will be the first one ters last evening. The meeting next Tuesday evening will be the first one in the new rooms, which are in the building at First and Broadway.

The question of uniforming the club was referred to the Executive Committee. This committee is to decide upon a sample uniform, and submit the same at the meeting next Tuesday. The "first voters" club, which will be a marching division in the parade that is to be a part of the big Republican rally later on, will meet this evening in the McKinley Club rooms, on West First street. All "first voters" are given a cordial invitation to be present and assist in perfecting the club's organization.

Short speeches were made last evening by Col. de Leur and G. B. McIntosh, each of whom discussed in an effective manner campaign issues.

The McKinley Club is making active preparations for its mass-meeting, in Music Hall next Friday evening. Congressman McLachlan, Dist.-Atty. Donnell and others are to address the meeting, while Col. R. B. Treat will act as chairman. Good musics will be rendered by the Amphion Quartette, and the club is confident of making the meeting a red-letter event of the campaign.

ferent kind of a mission. She made a record, too, but it was one to give her owner a feeling of pride.

William Lacy, owner of the Penelope, received a telegram from Capt. Larson at Guaymas, saying that the schooner arrived there on August 6 with all on board. She left San Diego on July 28, and made the 2000 miles voyage in nine days, which breaks the sailing record over that course. The suspicious circumstances which led to the connection of the Penelope with the gold-brick expedition to Ensenada, are explained by Mr. Lacy, who is well-known senior member of the Lacy Manufacturing Company. The schooner was fitted out at San Pedro for a mining and commercial course to the Mexican coast. She would have obtained her clearance papers there but for the fact that the nearest Mexican consul is at San Diego, whither the schooner first sailed. She cleared from San Diego on the 28th ult., as related, and with the seven men on board went direct to Guaymas. Mr. Lacy says the schooner will cruise on the Mexican coast and along the peninsula, and will return in about a month.

DISCOUNTING AMERICAN MONEY.

The news that Canadian banks are discounting the paper money of the United States is not surprising. Such action is one of the legitimate consepaper and silver money of the United siders the all-absorbing question of her States would be worth but little more existence, it falls to see how she can than 50 cents on the dollar.

In discounting our credit money by 10 per cent., the Canadian banks in-directly express the opinion that there the most experience. is about one chance in five of Mr. Bryan's election. In this estimate they place the percentage too high. One chance in ten would be nearer the truth; and perhaps "one to sixteen" would better still express the equation.

As a matter of fact, there is prac-tically no danger that the American cople will commit the inexpressible folly of wrecking their own credit and lebasing their own currency to about cone-half of its present value. As the money question becomes better underthe consequences of a vicso slow and so trifling that it would be so slow and so trifling that it would be so slow and so trifling that it would be money question becomes better under-stood, and the consequences of a vic-tory for free and unlimited silver coin-age are more fully realized, the unrea-sement craze for "free silver" will sub-contact the consequences of a vic-so slow and so trifling that it would be utterly valueless to the workman."

THE WOMEN'S WORK THIS YEAR

Mrs. Addie L. Ballou, one of the hardest working and most industrious wo-men in the State upon the question of universal suffrage, recently addressed a letter to this paper, headed with the question, "Should Women be Non-partisan?" In this article Mrs. Ballou makes a strong and eloquent plea for women to participate in the delibera tions of the great political parties. In the course of her letter she says:

"Never since the hour when men and women alike took sides in the conflict of political opinion, the outcome of which, through a sea of blood, brought emancipation to a race, has the political sky been so overcast as now."

Miss Susan B. Anthony believes that the women should conduct their work of enfranchisement through non-partian channels, and in a letter to the Sar Francisco Call, that lady vehemently litical parties of the day as fatal to the cause of universal suffrage. Among other objections advanced by her, is the following:

other objections advanced by her, is the following:

"Of course each of the political parties, old and new, would be glad of the help of the women throughout this fall campaign, but who can fall to see that the women who should join one alliance would thereby lose their influence with the men of each of the other parties. They would at once be adjudged partisans, working for the interest of the party with which or to which they were allied. Women of California, you cannot keep the good-will and win the good votes of all the good men of all the good parties of the State by allying yourselves with one or the other or all of them! You must stand as disfranchised citizens—outlaws—shut out of 'the body politic, humble suppliants, veriest beggars at the feet of all men of all parties alike."

Mrs. Ballou answers this from the standpoint of a wife and a mother, a

Should the plans of the repudiationists be carried into effect, the her life-long devotion to what she con realize her expectations by non-partisan methods. But perhaps Miss Anthony

SOCIALISTS ON SILVER.

Advices from London give the view of Dr. Schornlank, the German Socialist leader, on the silver issue in this country from the labor standpoint. He says: "We German Socialists are ab-solutely opposed to free coinage of sil-yer. We believe that the adoption of a soning craze for "free silver" will subside, and there will be a grand rally to the standard of sound money, sound government, and sound common sense. But of course our Canadian neighbors view the situation only from an outside standpoint, and take no account of the inherent good sense and the right instincts of the great body of the

THE COURTS AND DEMOCRACY.

Some of our readers have probably noticed a class of people who, when worsted in argument, try to crawl out by saying "You're another." The late ented Chicago convention and its point. The plank in that platform which has most caused the name of Democrat to become an exclamation point, is what is generally termed the "Anarchist plank," defying as it does the Federal authority. It reads as fol-

ows:

"We denounce arbitrary interference by Federal authorities in local affairs as a violation of the Constitution of the United States and a crime against free institutions, and we especially object to government by injunction as a new and highly dangerous form of oppression."

When charged with rebellious utterances, the apologists for the Chicago platform call attention to a plank in the Republican platform of 1860, in which the interference of James Buchanan, the President, in behalf of the Lecompton Constitution, was fiercely nounced. They also remind their versaries that Charles Sumner in 185 bitterly assailed the interference of the President in the Kansas imbroglio, and call up his speech in which he vivissociate justices for the Dred Scot decision. We do not suppose that, at this late day, any Republican will desire to apologize, or in anywise avoid responsibility for the vitriolic utterances of the great Massachusetts Senator on that occasion. Most people of that era were disposed to commend them, and, when the war clouds growing out of that strife had cleared away, the fun-damental law of the land was so amended that no case analagous to tha of Dred Scott could be, by any possi bility, ever brought before that tribuna (or any other court in America, for that matter,) to be determined either on issues of law or fact. Moreover, Mr. Sumner was not alon in his denunciations of Mr. Buchanar for the Lecompton infamy, by a good deal. Two Democrats in the United States Senate-Douglas of Illinois and Broderick of California—had not hes tated to hurl at the President's head so by the fact that each of them was chosen to his seat in the Senate by a Legislature elected contemporaneously with and on the same platform which elevated Mr. Buchanan to the chief magistracy of the nation. So it doe not matter much now whether Mr cile." as Broderick styled him, or not, But if the Chicago platform advocates want precedent for their action in this matter we can give it to them, ex cathedra. Thomas Jefferson is the idol to which all Democrats have "crooked the pregnant hinges of the knee" for more than three-fourths of a century At his name all Democrats uncover heir heads and bow with the rever ence of Grebers worshiping the holy flames on the dull shores of the Caspian Sea. Jefferson was the first man to attack the Supreme Court or to call in was by long odds the fiercest enemy the Supreme Court ever had, as can b proven by his own writings, published by Congress, See what he wrote to mas Ritchie, author of the saying 'We will see what we shall see," in husbands and sons whose vain attempts to find employment at the closed doors of idle manufactories have driven them to desperation; where the gaunt specter of want and destitution has driven sleep from the eye, smiles from the lips of childhood and peace from the breast of maternity, she would see a broader scope for woman's influence and a more immediate need of her exercise of it in the affairs of the hour than the one of her absorbing care, the enfranchisement of the women of a single State."

And while referring to the work of these diligent women, both working in a common cause, but though different channels, let us quote you a few lines from a pithy little pamphlet gotten out by the women employed in the City Bank of Buffalo, N. Y., and addressed "To the Women of the United States." It contains a good deal worth pondering well. It goes on to say:

"Bear in mind that free colnage of silver means the doubling in prices of all you buy for the daily support of your families.

"Bear and economy you have arranged so that you can live well and have something over every year; or perhaps you are just able to make ends meet." "The above and eches with a transfer with the silent are constantly working under ground in the undering our Constitution from a coff our confederated fabric. They are constructed fabric. They are construction of a general and special government to a general and special government.

"busing our Constitution from a coff diaret the feet, and they are too well versed in or a general and special government.

"busing our Constitution from a coff derated fabric. They are construction of a general and special government to a general and special government to a general and special government.

"busing our Constitution

The above and other virulent utter ances of Mr. Jefferson, compared with which Mr. Sumner's speech was harmless and tame, were directed at the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court John Marshall, whose interpretations and expoundings of our great and glo-rious Constitution have endeared his name to every true and loyal heart be tween the two oceans, regardless of partisan affiliations. So it will be seen that attacks upon the Supreme Court are about as old as the court itself and had their origin in the prolific brain of Thomas Jefferson, the founder of the Democratic party. "Put that in your pipe and smoke it."

RESULT OF FREE-SILVER FEARS.

The possibility, remote as it is, of the ountry going to a free-silver basis, is commercial Advertiser says that work in the great iron mines in the Gogebic range has been shut down expressly on that account, the agents declaring that they "find it impossible to sell their pig-iron product because the agitation in favor of free silver has stopped in-vestments in enterprises which would otherwise furnish a demand for that product." As a consequence, 7000 miner, were thrown out of employment.

Simultaneous with that comes th news that several of the great cottor mills at Fall River, Mass., and the Goodyear Rubber Mills in Connecticu have closed down, throwing thousands of workers into enforced idleness. Similar reports have also come from other Facts like these furnish material fo the most serious reflection. If disaster of such magnitude are the result of of such inaginated at the result of a mere fear that free silver may preyail, what, it may be asked, is the harvest likely to be should the uncertainty be removed from the domain of doubt to that of uncompromising fact?

The Fidelity and Casualty Company of New York in its monthly bulletin for August, has a very sensible article on free coinage, in which it goes to show that a 16-to-1 ratio, which prevailed for so many years in the United States is now no longer practicable of main tenance for the reason that the relative value of the two metals is that of 31 to coinage at the ratio of 16 to 1 could have but one effect—the retirement of have but one effect—the retirement of gold, which would go to other countries where gold is used for currency. The merchants of those countries would demand payments in gold for all goods sold to us; and, at the same time, would not the gold of t pay their debts to us in silver, as that would be our legal tender. There is no predicting how great the danger to our commercial system would be.

The New York Advertiser makes

The New York Advertiser makes this telling observation:

"For the first time in the history of this government the Presidential candidate of a great political faction has been compelled to 'assure' the public that he has not 'promised,' in event of his election, to appoint a notoricus anarchist and sympathizer with rioters to a position in his Cabinet. That candidate is William J. Bryan, and the Anarchist in question is John P. Altgeld. Even as it is, Bryan does not say that he will not call Altgeld to a Cabinet place. He simply asserts that no such bargain has been made.

"The fact that Bryan has been compelled to deny that he had agreed to select an avewed friend of lawbreakers for one of his chief official counsellors is alone a stinging indictment of the cause and the element which he represents. It shows the character of the Cabinet his followers expect him to choose and the character of the policy they believe he will adopt toward traitors and peace-disturbers of the Debs order. Bryan's 'denial' serves as an additional argument for his overwhelming defeat."

In 1892, when Mr. Bryan was oppos ing the McKinley tariff, and indulging in mixed metaphors of crosses of gold and crowns of thorns, he asserted that one of the many advantages that would result from free trade would be to "lower prices" on all the necessaries of Today he is vociferating with all the strength of a foghorn that the country must have free silver to "raise prices." One year he is for lowering prices, and the next for raising prices One year he knows this, and the next year he knows that, all of which goes to show that Mr. Bryan knows nothing at all about it. He is the veriest tyro known country has ever yet produced.

The Populists are never weary in crying out for more money, cheap money, money of any kind, so long as is plenty of it and cheap. There are, no doubt, some capitalists in the Populist party, but it may be doubted whether any of them would be willing to loan out his capital at 3 per cent. Yet there are millions and millions of dollars in the world which would only be too glad to be earning per cent a year, and even 2 per cent. would take a good deal of it. As an ina Russion loan of f.400,000,000, equal to about $80,000,000, issued a few weeks ago, paying only 3 per cent. interest, was covered over twenty-five times.

The list of revolting Democratic newspapers is daily increasing in num-One of the latest prominent ones is the Burlington (Iowa) Gazette. Immediately following the Chicago con-vention it said that as it was, and always had been, Democratic, it would, in all probability, stand by the ticket, notwithstanding the fact that free silver was almost too much for it. But the more it thought about it, the less i liked it, and last week it finally anounced, editorially, that, although it had fought the battles of Democracy for sixty-two years, it must now refuse to support the Chicago nominees.

Are not the Republicans of Sacra mento "crowding the mourners" a good deal when they renominate Judge Catlin and endorse the Congressional be-havior of Grove L. Johnson? Judge Catlin is a good man but has opposition, while there were plenty of other lawyers to be had against whom no opposition would be arrayed. The loss of a vote for Catlin may mean the loss of a vote for McKinley. As for Grove L. Johnson it is very lucky he is run ning for office in Sacramento. would not get votes enough to be called "scattering" if Los Angeles was in-cluded in his district.

Give us the good old times that we had under the McKinley Bill and you will see an American-built steamship cross the Atlantic inside of six days. he run from S York is open to competition between the vessels of four different nations. The French ships held the record till 1893, when the Fuerst Bismarck low ered it. Since that event it has been lowered four times, three times by the St. Paul and once by the St. Louis, her sister ship, both of which were built on the Delaware. American ocean steamship building has only begun in earnest.

Advices from Germany state that the Advices from Germany state that the proposition to incorporate in court prac-tice of the different German States a paragraph making the conditional par-don of law-breakers depend upon their migrating, which was discussed at the German Lawyers' Congress, is being favorably received in imperial and legal circles, and a committee of experts headed by Prof. von Cuny, is now draft. ing a government bill on the subject This is another argument in favor of early legislation to restrict immigration to this country, and prevent it from becoming the dumping ground for European vagrants and criminals.

E. V. Debs is an ardent supporter of the Populist platform, which demands that the government shall own and operate the railroads. In 1893 this same Debs, as editor of the Fireman's Maga-sine, wrote and published an article in which he gave some of the best and strongest of reasons against the plan of government ownership which he now advocates. Neither Debs nor any o his Populistic associates can controvert the arguments which he advanced in 1898 against the wild and impracticable scheme to which the Populists are committed in 1896.

During the past three years the Idaho wool-growers have had to the Idano wool-growers have had content themselves with a bare living, hence the only light ahead that they can see is in the election of McKinley. For every vote that McKinley loses through the silver question he will gain five through protection to wool.

When a Democratic paper gets up ballot among its Democratic readers as to their choice for President, it is not a ubject for surprise, but a foregone clusion, that a great majority of the replies should be for the Democration minee. The result proves nothing. A similar ballot, taken by a Republican newspaper among its Republican readers, would give an equally large, or greater majority for the Republican nominee. Los Angeles and Southern California are not for Bryan, they are for McKinley. The result in November will show it.

Mrs. Craven says Gov. Budd threatened her if she did not testify just to his liking in the Fair will case. Mrs. Craven has a splendid chance to get even. All she has to do is to threaten the Governor with a recount of the vote of 1894 in two of the San Francisco Assembly Districts, and he will come down off his perch too quickly. knows well enough that he never was elected Governor of this State; and that he holds his position by the will of gang of ballot-box stuffers, regardless of public right or private decency.

Col. Fred Grant's letter to Atty.-Gen Ketcham on the subject of what the Populists have seen fit to term "the crime of 1873," has the true ring about it, and effectually silences the ridicuous story that Gen. Grant did not know what he was signing when he signed the Coinage Act. Gen. Grant was man who always knew what he was about, more especially in the heat and frenzy of battle; and he could give first-class references to several large cemeteries to prove that he never lost his

If England is too much tied up with the Sultan through matters con ected with the Suez Canal, let Russia bring the Porte to a realizing sens of what is proper and Uncle Sam will stand in with the Bear.

A charge poorly denied is half cor fessed is an axiom long since accepted. Mr. Bryan is probably waiting till he reaches Madison Square, in New York, pefore denying the charge that he has been in the employ of a silver-mining syndicate. By that time a great many voters who were originally disposed to vote the Democratic ticket will have gone over to McKinley.

The officiating clergyman at the recent Vanderbilt-Wilson nuptials was the Rev. Mr. Pott. If the elder Vanderbilt is to be believed, the reverend gen-tleman is responsible for "a pretty kettle of fish." It is not on record that the choir sang "Here's a How-d'ye-do," on that occasion, but we have heard music that would have been less appropriate.

It is said that Hoke Smith has tendered his resignation to the President on account of his views on the silver question. It is now to be hoped that there will be retractions forthcoming from those gentlemen who have been insisting, for the past month, that the Department of the Interior was being presided over by a ventriloquist.

Byron Waters's attack upon the bar of San Francisco, while it may not suit the reading of some lawyers in that city, will have to stand for truth until disproven. The spectacle of young Jes-sup swabbing out spittoons in two years after being declared the rightful neir to $70,000, of which he received less than one-tenth, is not a pleasant one.

THE REVOLT.

It Goes on Gathering Strength Day After Day.

Nearly Two Hundred Democratic Papers Have Bolted.

The Chicago Platform Denounced in Every State in the Union. Bryan in a Bad Fix-It is a

(Boston Herald:) The number of newspapers that have bolted the Demo-cratic ticket for the Presidency is now reported to have reached nearly two hundred. We doubt if the public fully realize the significance of this demon-stration. Nothing like it, we think, has ever been known before in American olitics—certainly nothing like it in the revious history of the proverbially previous history of the proverbially faithful Democratic party. Here are the elements of disintegration, if it is possible to produce them. The places of none of these bolting journals have been filled, it will be observed, by ac essions from the other side, beyond the limits of a few of the smallest States of the Union. We see no noting of accessions of any importance outside press in any other quarter than this limited one in point of numbers. There are plenty of rumors of what is to be, but how feeble is the figure they cut in contrast with the solid facts

Repudiation, Open and Undisgulsed.

(Philadelphia Times:) We have received several letters complaining that we speak of the Chicago national candidates as Repudiationists, and of that convention as a body dominated by outright repudiation. Those who complain of the application of the term Repudiationist to the supporters of the Chicago national ticket certainly have not read the Chicago platform. Its plank on the money issue breathes the rankest spirit of repudiation from beginning to end.

A Contradiction

(New York Sun.) Do you say that you are against Bryan, but not for McKinley? Then you contradict yourself. If you are against Bryan, you want to beat him, and how can you beat him except by being for McKinley?

If a third ticket is nominated by the sound-money Democrats, it will not be a third ticket is nominated by the sound-money Democrats, it will not be put up with any expectation that it can be elected. It could not get the electoral vote of a single State, probably not even a majority of the votes in a single election district of the whole Union.

Kentucky Democrats.

Kentucky Democrats.

(Philadelphia Press:) The other day the Louisville Courier-Journal sent its reporters among the Democratic business men of that city to find out how they feel in respect to the platform and ticket of the Chicago convention. None but Democrats were interviewed, all politicians and professional men being ignored. Of the 225 questioned, 155 declared themselves as squarely against the ticket and said that they would not support it. Of the remaining 70 Democrats, 40 were noncommittal, while only 30, or less than one-seventh, declared that they would support Bryan.

Silver Will Make Matters Worse. (Springfield Union:) Free silver is not the cure for the present trouble. Free silver will make matters worse by paralyzing industry, by throwing men out of employment and in general by immense disasters, and this is the result that must come, silver argument to the contrary notwithstanding. The Union believes that business will revive when protection is on the statute books, and it would follow McKinley's election, and that election will give confidence to business by the certainty that the money of the nation will not be debased. (Springfield Union:) Free silver is no

William Jennings Bryan and his co-parceners in the cause of silver are very much like a certain doctor everyone has heard of who, to cure his everyone has heard of who, to cure his patients, threw them into fits and was "hell on fits." These free-sliverite genuld throw the country into a panic, and they are hell on panics, Bryan in a Fix.

(Chicago Inter Ocean:) The Democratic Indianapolis Sentinel sees the bad fix that Mr. Bryan is in. It says; "The Populists place Mr. Bryan in an embarrassing situation, for while devoted to the free-coinage cause, he is under obligations of honor to be loyal to his associate on the Democratic ticket. If he should do otherwise he would probably lose as many Demo-cratic votes as he gained Populist. If the Populist convention had been looking for a plan to endanger the success of the silver movement it could not have devised a more ingenious scheme." polis Sentinel sees the The plan that the Democrats propose to

In other words, I consider him the standard-bearer of Populism and radicalism. The issue admits of no compromise. A gold Democrat. convinced as I am that the country would be swept with a storm of destruction should the standard of value be changed to an impossible bimetallism at 16 to 1, I cannot without being criminal assist in bringing about the result."

Voice of Patriotism Voice of Patriotism.

(Philadelphia Record:) When Populists, Silverites and Greenbackers combine to debase the country's standard of value, to clip the coinage of the people, to violate the most sacred obligations of r contracts and to overthrow the credit of the nation, the highest considerations of public interests appeal to Democrats and Republicans to fling party to the dogs and unite as one man against this dangerous movement.

(Lincoln, Neb., News:) As Bryan glances along the list of conspicuous papers which have abandoned his party on account of its platform and ticket, he can appreciate the situation which confronted Louis XVI when the Duke of Liancourt, speeding from Paris, apprised him of the fall of the Bastille. "It is a revolt," exclaimed Louis. "No, sire," said the Duke, "it is a revolution!" "It is a Revolution

The Bolt in Kentucky

The Bolt in Kentucky.

(New York Mail and Express.) In Kentucky the bolt of the Democratic newspapers has been the feature of the campaign so far. When the Courier-Journal and the other Louisville papers refused to accept the Chicago platform, it was not hard work for the others to follow suit. Among the late papers to bolt are the Danville Advocate and the Mount Vernon Eagle. In the first ten days of the campaign fourteen Democratic papers in Kentucky found it impossible to surrender their Democratic principles and indorse the Chicago platform. Others have not had a word to say in support of the ticket, while not formally repudiating it, but have declared their dissatisfaction with the platform, and some of those that have decided to swallow the pill are not enthusiastic over it.

Clarke Bolts.

(Chicago World:) Mr. John H. Clarke, one of the leading Democrats of Eastern Ohlo. and principal owner of the Youngstown Vindicator, has announced Ohio. and principal variety of that he will not support the free-silver ticket and platform adopted at Chicago. He stands by civil service reform and condemns not only free silverism and Bryan, but the platform's denunciation of the suppression of the Chicago riots.

Offering Long Odds.

(Farmer's Tribune, Minneapolls, Minn:) Col. S. A. Hunt, of the Phoenix Hotel, Lexington, Ky., who is the original of "the Colonel" in the play of "Old Kentucky," offers, according to the Courler-Journal, to bet 35 to 34 that McKinley is the next President of the United States. He will bet any amount, from $100 to $100,000, and offers to pay $10 to any person who will bring him a $100 bet. Betting is bad business, but so long as Kentuckians will bet, they can't long as Kentuckians will bet, they can't do better than to bet on McKinley.

The Revolt in Maine

(Cincinnati Times-Star): It is said that of the 187 newspapers published in Maine only nine support Bryan and Sewall. The ladifference of his fellow-citizens to the question whether a ship-builder from the Pine Tree State shall preside over the United States Senate is a great surprise to Mr. Sewall.

People Will Stop to Think.

(Peoria Transcript:) The free-silver army is making a tremendous amount of noise just now and expending a great deal of energy which it will need badly when the actual fighting begins. There is bound to be a depressing reaction from the high-pressure enthusiasm and then the thinking voters of the land will step in and do business.

Common Sense Will Win.

(Louisville Courier-Journal:) The people of the United States are not devoid of common sense, nor have they lost their mavelous political sagacity. They crushed Know-Nothingism forty years ago; they routed greenbackism twenty years back; they scotched the snake of anarchy a decade ago, and again two years back, and they will put down the silver conspirators.

Not to Be Underrated.

(New York Times:) It is well not to underrate the strength of this combina-tion and the dangers which it threatens tion and the dangers which if threatens to the stability nit only of the currency, but of all our institutions. It is the darkest menact to which free government has ever yet been exposed in this country, and it behoves not merely all believers in scund money but all who are devoted to the safety and well-being of the groupilic. to array thempeing of the republic, to array them-elves against these evil forces.

(New York Compercial Advertiser.)
The Yonkers "Gazette," a Democration ewspaper since the world was young, has come over to MiKinley and Hobart and sound money. The wreck of matter and the crash of worlds, when it happens, will be something like the smashing at present of party lines.

Democratic Bolting Newspapers. (Providence News) The list of Democratic and independent newspapers that have bolted the Chicago platform for sound money and in most cases are outspoken for McKinley and Hobart now numbers 180. Not even the war of the rebellon created so remarkable a turnove.

Bryan's Campaign Burchardism. (Louisville Courier-Journal:) The three Rs' of the Bryan campaign seem to be Repudiation, Rot and Ruin.

The Railroad is the Saddle.

(Venturian:) The exhibition of political trickery at the Democratic convention in Armory Hal shows to what length the Southern Pacific will go in support of their canddate. Mr. Rose was placed in nomination by John W. Mitchell, the well-known railroad attorney, who was sent to Washington last winter to fight for the Santa Monica Harbor appropriation and sixteen of the delegates from Les Angeles, who voted solidly for Rose are regular employes of the railroad company. The railroad people made no attempt at concealing their purpose and they carried the matter through with a high hand. Patton, by ever right, was entitled to the nomination. He had a clear majority of two lelegates in the convention, but the Southern Pacific forced an adjournment and when the The Railroad in the Saddle. clear majority of two lelegates in the convention, but the Southern Pacific forced an adjournment and when the convention meets at Lis Angeles they will again make an effert to onminate Rose. It was the most flagrant and shameless instance of pilitical trickery this county has ever witnessed. The three delegates from this county who voted with the railroad were: T. A. Rice, M. Fagan and W. P. McGonigle, proxy for John McGonigle, Mr. Rice expects to run for Supervisor this fall, but his record in this convention will not be a good recommendation to the voters of his district.

A wild-eyed rumor was stalking around the streets yesterday, which for a time caused my h trepidation among the local bank is. It was to the effect that Los Angeles newspaper men had decided to withdraw all their gold from the banks. It is easy to see that such action would have resulted in serious embarrassment to our local banking institutions, and probably to the closing of several, or more, of them. Fortunately, on investigation, it was discovered that the rumor was unded, having originated from the fact that an employé of a local conrary is taking the "gold cure."

Now that the wheelmen are looming up on the horizon, as a possible factor in the municipal campaign, the local statesmen are falling over themselves in their haste to proclaim the affection, respect, reverence and regard they always have had for the scorcher, the er girl and everything that ever has or ever will bestride a bicycle. A new industry is proposed for these parts. Just across the Mexican line an enterprising rancher proposes to establish a monkey farm. He also has an idea that the campaign clubs of the Popocratic party will each want a monkey as campaign mascot. This demand, he estimates, will exhaust the surplus stock of imported monkeys and make the de mand for monkeys for the organ-grinder trade much larger than it would be under normal conditions.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

northern heart." While he is not so eloquent as his prototypes, Rhett. Yancy, Toombs and Benjamin, he is doing the work they attempted in 1860. Once in Ohio and also at Pittsburgh, he refers to the times of 1776, when there were but two classes of people, the patriots and the traitors, saying that this is such a campaign, and calls upon his audience to array themselves in his audience to array themselves in battle against the Tories. He further says that you will look in vain through the cemeteries of this country for monusays that you will look in vain through the cemeteries of this country for monuments to their memory, and warns all Republicans, with prophetic voice, of their doom of forgetfulness. Aside from the inflammatory effect designed in these foolish utterances—ropes, that should and probably will, hang him—let us inspect his army.

His veterans are mostly from the South, If they had succeeded at Gettysburg. California would have been within the limits of the Southern Confederacy. Happily not every man now living who fought with Davis and aided and abetted the South is in Bryan's ranks; but among his supporters can be found a sprinkling of the Knights of the Golden Circle, venerable copperheads, and all that cowardly crowd that fied to Canada to escape the draft. Is it possible that patriots are made of such stuff, particularly of such material as these three classes above mentioned? Do patriots stay at home when their country is in the death grip of rebellion and prod the at home when their country is in leath grip of rebellion and prod the the death grip of rebellion and prod the nation's soldiers in the back with bayonets? The old copperheads are altogether unpatriotic, untrustworthy and would no more fight for this country now than they did when they had a glorious opportunity to show their patriotism.

Now, as to the new recruits—Debs.

a glorious opportunity to show their natriotism.

Now as to the new recruits—Debs, Altgeld, Herr Most, "General" Coxey and their followers. Would any sane man think to find patriots in such a crowd?" Is there an Anarchist or Nihilist on our shores that is not in the ranks of these recruits? Not one! The saddest, and at the same time, the most incongruous sight is to see silver Republicans and old soldiers—pensioners—training with these cattle. There are no silver Republicans; they are Democrats. "Good-by Democrats," said a man from the gallery when Teller and his followers left the hall of the Republican convention at St. Louis. He was correct. The Democratic party is a bourne from which no Republican ever returns.

was a bourne from which a bourne from which ever returns. I have nothing to say about the traitorous Republicans. If our country were in a war they would be there, with guns in their hands. This wholesale denunciation of his opponents by the valuglorious and tickled "Boy" may come home to plague him. Give him rope.

"Coin's Financial School." LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7 .- (To the Editor of The Times:) After the reaction to the prosperity of the country in 1892, under the Harrison administration, and a limited experience of the McKinley. a limited experience of the Ackiniey, tariff and international reciprocity, had fully set in as the result of the change of administrative policy and the adoption of the Wilson-Gorman tariff, the consequent depression in trade was at once attributed by the Democrats to the compromise Sherman bill, which was then in force, requiring the government to purchase 4,500,000 ounces of silver each month, in order to supply a market for the output of our mines, and thus satisfy the demands of the silver party, which was even then assuming an undue importance in the field of politics. The Republicans, who were only too eager to repeal the bill for which they had only voted as an enforced compromise, joined in the demand for its repeal, and this unwise measure, which has resulted in making the vaults of the national treasury a warehouse for silver bullion which cannot be coined with the present capacity of out mints under four or five years, was repealed, but depression, stagnation and bankruptcy remained unchecked.

In examining this subject, I find the ariff and international reciprocity checked.

In examining this subject, I find the government has purchased silver under the acts of 1878 and 1890, as follows:
PURCHASE OF SILVER BY THE GOVERNMENT. Act 1878 to 1891—Fine ounces, 291,272,018; cost, $308,279,260; average price $1.6583; bullion value of dollars $0.8185.

Act of 1890 to 1895—Fine ounces, 1895.

Act of 1890 to 1895—Fine ounces, 1895.

dollars $0.8185.
Act of 1890 to 1895—Fine ounces, 168,-674.682; cost, $155.931.002; average price, $0.9244; bullion value of dollars, $0.7150.
PROFIT TO THE GOVERNMENT.
June 1, 1878, to June 30, 1895—Seigniorage on dollars, act of 1890, $75.643,893.
August 13, 1890, to November 1, 1895—$8,252,508; total profit, 1878 to 1895, $83,-896,401.
The above statement

August 13, 1890, to November 1, 1895—$8,252,508; total profit, 1878 to 1895, $83, $896,401.

The above statement naturally suggests the following pertinent questions:

First—If the "crime of '73" resulted in decreasing the volume of circulation and thus producing financial distress and disaster, why did the Democrats and their silver allies demand the repeal of the bill which required the government to purchase 54,000,000 ounces of silver yearly, except as a prelude to the present demand for free coinage, which would enable them to reap the profit which the government realized from 1878 to 1852?

Second—If increased circulation is desirable at 16 to 1, would it not be wiser and more just that the government should reap the profit for the benefit of all who will be affected by it, rather than the vast difference between the market and coinage value (about one half) should be divided among the few who may have silver to sell?

Third—If the free-coinage party should be successful, would it utilize first the silver buillion in the treasury, which cost the government 92 cents an ounce, for coinage, and thus keep the mints employed at their full capacity in coining dollars costing 71½ cents, or would it, under the pressure of the mine-owners, allow the nation's buillion to lie dormant in order to buy silver from every speculator who might have silver to sell, from a ton to a teaspoon, at $1.29 an ounce?

Fourth—Inasmuch as the government sable, on account of the profit it has made and the limited amount coined, to maintain the parity of the sold and silver dollar, could it possibly, with a free coinage of the world's silver, without profit, at $1.29 an ounce, prevent it falling to its bullion value, as regulated by pig silver in London?

Fifth—Why do the free-silver voters claim that England dominantes our common-sense sound-in-oney policy.

Fifth—Why do the free-silver voters claim that England dominates our common-sense sound-money policy, when the same standard regulates the currency of every civilized nation in Europe?

H. HILL.

"If not, Why Not?"

"If not, Why Not?"

RIVERSIDE (Cal.,) Aug. 10.—(To the Editor of The Times:) Will you permit a disgruntled "Democrat" to criticise, in a few words, the letter entitled "Politics, Not Policy," in today's Times?
Your correspondent says: "In other words, the company, to illustrate, on the valuation of $1000 lends $500, interest and principal payable in gold. The mortgagor cannot pay in gold. The company comes into possession of the $1000 piece of property for $500. Here is a profit of $500, or 100 per cent., it then sells the property on a so-called 50-cent dollars basis, the value of which has been enhanced to nearly $2000, which the company receives, thereby converting their original $500 gold Joan into about $2000 so-called $5-cent dollars."

The fallacy of this conclusion lies in not do what the "company" is said to be able to do.

According to the showing, the market value of the property is about $2000 in silver, and can be sold at that price. If so, then let the mortgagor sell it. instead of the company, and with $1000 of the silver dollars purchase $500 in gold with which to pay off the company's claim, and then put the other 1000 silver dollars in his pocket. If not, why not? Yours truly, "IRNE,"

And so Gen. Wade Hampton, United States Rallway Commissioner, will not go East over the Southern Pacific after all. His itinerary includes the South-ern Pacific's Oregon branch as far as all. His itinerary includes the Southern Pācific's Oregon branch as far as Portland, and thence he and his party will return East by the Northern Pacific line. Gen. Hampton probably has Mr. Huntington's assurance that the Southern Pacific is in first-class condition, and that is about all he wants to know.

to know.

Maj. W. B. Hooper, for many years manager of the Occidental Hotel at San Francisco, is now in San Diego for a brief term of recreation and rest from the cares of active business. He will return by way of Los Angeles and will be cordially greeted by those of our citizens who make the Occidental their headquarters while visiting the metropolis. The Occidental was built by Peter Donahue in 1861, and is the army and navy hotel of that city.

B. C. Demiway, who died in Oregon about a week or so ago, crossed the plains in 1850, and, several years later, married Miss Abigail S. Scott, sister of Harvey W. Scott, editor of the Daily Oregonian of Portland. As the husband of a woman of virile thought, Mr. Demiway was but little known, but he was an amiable gentleman and a good husband and father. He leaves a widow and four sons, who are excellent business men and a credit to any family.

Caspar S. Ricks, who died near Eureka, Humboldt county, last Friday was the son of one of the early set-tlers of that region, and had served constituents faithfully as a mem-of the Assembly. He was conber of the Assembly. He was connected with many important lumbering and shipbuilding enterprises in that vicinity. Mr. Ricks's parents nected with many important lumbering and shipbuilding enterprises in that vicinity. Mr. Ricks's parents came to this State in the early fifties in company with Thomas J. Henley of Indiana, who had been appointed Indian agent for the State by President Pierce. Mr. Ricks was born at Eureka, and was nearly 40 years of age. Mrs. Mary C. Holman, mother of Alfred Holman of the Pacific Rural Press, died last week in San Francisco, and, agreeably to her request before death, her remains were taken to Oregon for interment. She was a beautiful woman and a good one. Mrs. Holman was the daughter of Dr. John McBride, who went to Oregon in 1846, and who was a pioneer Republican of our sister State. In 1861 Mr. Lincoln appointed Dr. McBride to be Minister to the Hawaiian Islands, a position that he filled with dignity and honor to himself and his adopted State. Dr. McBride's youngest son, George W. McBride, is now United States Senator from Oregon.

McBride, is now United States Senator from Oregon.

Hugh McCalmont, the famous British turfman, whose horse Isinglass is one of only six horses that have won the Derby, Two Thousand Guineas and St. Leger in 126 years, is visiting his brother-in-law, J. R. Robinson, at Hanford, Tulare county. Two years ago he sent out his horse Islington, a full brother to Isinglass, as a present to Mr. Robinson. Mr. McCalmont inherited his wealth from an uncle, who was one of the most successful ironmasters in all England, and his income is over $2,000,000 per annum. When Isinglass won the St. Leger, at Doncaster in 1893. Mr. McCalmont shut down his works on the Saturday following and gave a dinner on his lawn to all his employés, at a cost somewhat in excess of $6000. He is expected to visit this city next week, and we hope he will visit all the breeding farms in Southern California while he is in our midst.

Lodowic U. Shippe, who came to this State from Rhode Island just forty years ago, died last Saturday at Stockton, and, singular to relate, died poor. He was rated at a million in 1888, and his decadence financially is ascribable to the depreciation in land values and the prices of horses, of which he was a noted breeder. Mr. Shippee worked in the mines for two years and then came down to Stockton, where he entered the employ of Owens, Moore & McKee, as salesman at a salary of $70 per month. His value to his employers is instanced by the fact that he was taken into the firm in 1863, and that the firm was reorganized as Shippee, McKée & Co. in 1868. Stockton never had a more public-spirited citizen. He built agricultural-implement factories and established banks, doing everything to advance the prosperity of Stockton. He owned large tracts of land, but they were all mortgaged heavily. Mr. Shippee ever married, and his nearest living relative is ex-Senator Shippee of Butte county, who was his cousin.

Think it Over.

(Lynn, Mass., Item.) One of the shortest, and certainly one of the best campaign documets we have seen is the one that is shown on the window of a New York stationer: "Until now the world has never seen men who were getting their pay in the most expensive dollars begging to be paid in dollars worth about half as much, for no other reason than to make a few mine-owners rich." Let the man who says he cannot understand the silver talk take this little paragraph, sit down and think it over.

VENTURA COUNTY.

cast of the County Convention. VENTURA, Aug. 11.—(Regular Cor respondence.) The political atmosphere has not cleared up since the two-day session of the Democratic Congress convention, which adjourned to meet in work in harmony in all things, and a bitter fight is in prospect over local offices. The Populists through their County Central Committee have called for the holding of a County Convention September 12, and have issued a manifesto favoring George S. Patton for Congress. The fact that during the deadlock between Rose and Patton in the late convention, a movement was started in the Rose delegation to compromise on H. C. Dillon of Los Angeles has weakened Dillon's chances with Ventura county Populists. Two years ago the Populists polled 655 votes for Bowman for Congress, and elected their candidate for District Attorney and the leaders claim that the party is stronger work in harmony in all things, and a candidate for District Attorney and the leaders claim that the party is stronger today than ever before. It certainly has the most effective organization and its leaders show no disposition of taking orders from the Democracy which now on.

Next Saturday the Republican primaries will be held in every precinct in the county and in the three precincts in this city. Tuesday, August 18, the County Convention will be held and logrolling is going on in every precinct in the county. The officials to be nominated are a Superior Judge, a member of Assembly and three Supervisors. A name for member of the State Senate will be endorsed to be nominated in joint convention with Santa Barbara county which forms a part of the district.

Santa Barbara county which forms a part of the district. At this writing the general impres-sion prevails that the Senate nomina-tion will go to Santa Barbara as she gave way four years ago for a Ventura man.

The fight for the judicial ermine has gave way four years ago for a Ventura man.

The fight for the judicial ermine has dwindled down until but one name is mentioned, and Judge B. T. Williams will receive the nomination by acclamation. It is generally admitted that he will name the chairman of the new County Central Committee in the person of W. H. Barnes. In each of the three districts in which a supervisor is to be elected a spirited contest is in prospect, as the chances for a sweeping Republican victory are excellent, and statesmen in plenty are anxious to draw down the regular $6 per diem and mileage.

Probably the keenest competition will be made in the matter of the selection of a man to represent the district in the Assembly. Hon. Peter Bennett, member of the lower house during the last session, is a candidate for reelection, but he has antagonized the railroad and anti-Perkins wing of the party, which does not want to see Senator Perkins returned to Washington as successor to himself, and a quiet knifing game is in progress, receiving the support of the Courthouse boss. Just how strong the opposition will prove to be will not develop until after a vote has been taken. It is a known fact that the enemies of Senator Perkins have been corresponding with certain leaders in this county, and that an attempt will be made to dictate the nominations for State Senator Perkins have been corresponding with certain leaders in this county, and that an attempt will be made to dictate the nominations for State Senator Perkins have been corresponding with certain leaders in this county, and that an attempt will be made to dictate the nominations for State Senator and Assemblymen in this district. Saturday's primary election bids fair to be a spirited one, as it will be a battle of politics in which the general public will see some lively skirmishing all along the line. County Clerk Kenagy reports the enrollment of 3465 names on the new Great Register. This is considered a full registration, and but few names have been left off.

(Las Vegas Optic:) W. L. Crockett gives a good illustration of Republican administration versus that of Democracy. He says that before the duty on wool was destroyed, when he started from his ranch to the market he would trade fifteen pounds of wool for one night's lodging on the road; now it requires seventy-five pounds of wool to pay for supper, bed and breakfast, for himself, family and team. The wool men are not to be led off into the Democratic party by glitter of silver, when such examples as this stare them in the face at meal time.

(San José Mercury:) The Town Council of Los Gatos intends to see that the residents of that town shall be protected from tuberculous milk. certificate showing that the animals from which the milk was obtained, and the milk itself, are pure, clean and healthy." It is evident that the people and the authorities in this county clearly comprehend the situation and that they are determined to wage a relentless warfare against diseased cattle and milk that is either infected or adulterated.

(Riverside Press.) The silver question is easy to comprehend when defined as it was the other day by an employer to his employes in the following simple and practical fashion: "My own and your welfare depends upon the credit I can get at the banks. I cannot get my pay for goods we make for months. To pay you wages I must borrow money. The banks are full of money belonging to other people, but the officers will not lend on any securities unless they are sure that they will receive back from me money as good as they lend me to pay you. If the banks are suspicious they will refuse me money, and I must discharge you. All this talk about free silver makes those who lend me money to pay you suspicious. Do you understand?"

(San Diego Union:) The efforts which California people are now making to re-who lend me money to pay you susnicious. Do vou understand?"

(San Diego Union:) The efforts which California people are now making to retain at home some of the wealth that is produced here, instead of continuing to send it out of the State, are causing more or less unfavorable comment in the East. It is not strange. Careful estimates show that since 1849 this State has produced $1,800,000 mo gold coin. Of course this does not mean that with the sace this does not mean that with the gold produced here has been sent out of the State. Much of it is represented here today in one form or another. Just how much has been sent away can never be known, but the amount is enormous. California has always been a wealth-producer for the rest of the country, and it is not surprising that the Eastern States regard with little favor the agitation that is now in progress here in favor of keeping a larger share of the money at home.

(Oakland Tribune:) Here is a timely criticism, made by the Illustrated American. "See?" is bad enough as a vulgarism of speech; "Don't you know?" is worse. "See?" belongs to the grossly uncultured. The voluble man of this class makes some trifling statement which he deems a shade above the plane of his most common utterance, and he calls attention to its intellectual grade by rounding it with the inquiry "See?" He says, for example, "My bicycle needed oiling, see?"
In him it is pardonable. Being uncultivated, there is no reason why it should occur to him that the inquiry is a useless foults and imperiment manner.

In him it is pardonable. Being uncultivated, there is no reason why it should occur to him that the inquiry is a useless, foolish and impertinent mannerism. But "Don't you know?" because it is used in precisely the same irrational way by people of more or less claim to cultivation, is unpardonable. Some people, no doubt, say it when they are a bit embarrassed. Others have adopted the habit because they want to be regarded as having through familiarity fallen into the modes of swelldom. Still others use it occasionally because it is in the air. But the man who is sure of his thought and speech would sooner use his bootblack's "See?" than this inexcusable British affectation.

First Session of the Annual Congress Held Yesterday.

Delegates Gather in Force at Illinois Hall.

There Were Some Veratious Delays in Yesterday's Meeting—Appoint-ment of Committee on Creden-tials the Only Business Done,

Lively times reigned yesterday after-noon at Illinois Hall, for it held an as-semblage of about three hundred col-ored people, delegates to the first State convention of the Afro-American League ever held in Southern Califor-

The league has grown rapidly since its formation in San Francisco in 1891, and local organizations now exist in every city and town where there are enough colored inhabitants to apply for a charter. At the adjournment of the congress held in San Francisco last year, a resolution was taken to hold the next convention in Los Angeles, and, by order of the State Executive Council, a call was issued to the members of all the local leagues in California, notifying them of the date of the congress of 1896, and explaining again the objects for which the Afro-American League was formed. Each league was congress of 1896, and explaining again the objects for which the Afro-American League was formed. Each league was urged to give all possible statistics of the colored race, the exact population, as near as it could be ascertained, a census of the property-owners, and an estimate of the value of the property owned in the United States by colored people. These statistics were to be compiled for historical use. The clergy and the press, and all friends of the Afro-American race were urged to ald in making the congress a success, and in obtaining that political recognition which would lead to the advancement of the colored people to posts of honor and trust.

Owing to a misunderstanding about the hall, the first session of the convention yesterday had to be postponed from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. At that hour, the meeting was called to order by J. J. Neimore, second vice-president of the State League. All the delegates were present in the hall, and upon the platform were Mmes. T. B. Morton of San Francisco, T. J. Jean of Pasadena, James H. Forman of San Francisco, E. D. Dent of Pasadena, G. F. Warner of Los Angeles, and Miss Minnie Scott of San Francisco. Vice-president Neimore occupied the chair, and B. F. Talbot acted as secretary.

Almost simultaneously with the call to order, Mayor Rader entered the hall and mounted the platform. Rev. Mr. Hawkins, a venerable colored minister, offered up a fervent prayer for the success of the congress, and then Mr. Neimore introduced the Mayor, who delivered a short address of welcome.

All listened while the Mayor expressed his hope that the deliberations of this congress would result to the benefit of the colored race, and that no disappointment might be felt in this first visit to Los Angeles of many of the delegates. Many opportunities for advancement were offered to the colored race in this city, wherein there exists practically no race prejudice. Owing to the numerous vocations open to colored people, the population had increased within a few years to 3000 energatic,—enterprisi together for common benefit 20,000 disorganized people.

President Morton was received with great applause, and responded to the Mayor's address as follows:

"Mr. Rader, Mayor of this beautiful City of the Angels, located in the great orange belt of the Pacific Coast, on behalf of the delegates of the Afro-American Congress of California, convened in the second annual session, I ask you to accept their most sincere thanks for the honor conferred in extending to them so cordial a welcome.

"I assure you that it is extremely gratifying to be favored with your presence and to listen to the very excellent greeting accorded to us all.

"While we may differ upon some radical philosophies as to the government and the rights of the citizens, there is in very heart a genial spot, in which nestles that old-time patriotic love for the equality of all American citizens.

and the rights of the citizens, there is in very heart a genial spot, in which nestles that old-time patriotic love for the equality of all American citizens before the law.

"In fact, our very differences of opinion should make us broader in our sympathies and more tolerant as to our diverse views on these issues.

"It is our sincere belief that, in America, the time will come in the next century, which is not far off, when around a single fraternal altar, dedicated to patriotism, the Protestant, the Catholic, the Jew and the agnostic may reverently stand, free in his politics, secure in his person, and respected in his religion, and look at the Stars and Stripes as the symbol of the world's advancement toward a practical justice snd daily love to each other. It is our hope that to each and all of them that banner may become the token under which every American with pride can acknowledge the motherhood of earth, the brotherhood of God."

After a vote of thanks to the Mayor for the greeting he retired from the scene. This speedly became more than animated as a motion was made to appoint a committee of seven on credentials. Much opposition was made to this, and so vigorous was it that President Morton, who had taken the chair, upon his introduction to the delegates, nearly wore out his little hammer rapping for order. After many motions and amendments and a great deal of excited discussion, it was decided to appoint twelve delegates instead of seven to form the Committee on Credentials. Some one suggested that thirteen be appointed, but this number was evidently regarded as a hoodoo and the original dozen was adhered to by the president. The members of the committee as finally made up were: A. D. Jones, San Francisco; H. Collins, Alameda; A. Benford, San Francisco; B. F. Talbot, Los Angeles; J. C. Carter, Riverside; T. J. Jean, Pasadena; Rev. J. H. Kelley, Pasadena; J. L. Edmonds, Duarte; C. H. Anderson, Los Angeles; J. C. Carter, Riverside; T. J. Jean, Pasadena; Rev. J. H. Kelley, Pasadena; A. Fecsno's twenty m

A recess of twenty minutes was ta-ken in order to allow the committee to prepare its report, but this was a matter of time and the hour for ad-journment had arrived before the re-port was completed.

port was completed.

It was announced that the Douglas League of Pasadena would hold a meeting immediately in the parlor of the Hotel de Talbot, and a meeting of the Los Angeles delegates was appointed to take place at 8 p.m. in the City Hall.

The meeting then adjourned and all the Conditions Have Bee During the Week.

The climate and crop bulletin of the Weather Bureau, for the week end-ing Monday, August 10, as compiled by Ing Monday, August 10, as complied by George E. Franklin, observer, reports cloudy or foggy mornings were frequent in the coast districts during the past week; while the days were clear and sunshiny. Clear weather prevailed in the interior with the temperature remaining about stationary. Beans and other summer crops were benefited by the damp cool nights and the small varieties of beans are now being harvested. Pomegranates are ripe in Orange county, where the pear and apple crops are reported above the average. The recent rains were a blessing to the desert sections where grass and wild flowers are said to be abundant now.

San Luis Obispo—The weather was favorable for harvesting and all growing crops. The highest temperature was 90 deg; lowest, 48 deg.

Santa Barbara county—Goleta: Heavy fogs prevailed the entire week and the weather was quite warm after the fogs lifted about the middle of the day. Summer crops continue to do well. George E. Franklin, observer, reports

Los Angeles county—Los Angeles city: The mornings were generally cloudy with frequent heavy dews or light fogs; the days were clear and moderately warm. The weather was cooler than the seasonal average, the temperature ranging from 2 to 6 deg. dally, below the normals. The highest temperature was 83 deg.; lowest, 54 deg. La Cañada: Although cool weather has somewhat retarded the growth of trees and vines, it has benefited them as the lack of moisture in the soil would have been detrimental to a heavy growth. Peaches, plums, and grapes are ripening slowly. Highest temperature, 80 deg.; lowest, 53 deg. Verdugo: One or two night fogs during the past week assisted in giving life to vegetation. Nearly all varieties of deciduous fruits are now ripening, except Salway and other late peaches and pears. Duarte: The past week has been warm and dry with more or less fogs at night. Highest temperature, 93 deg.; lowest, 56 deg. Pomona: Typical summer weather has prevalled for several weeks; occasionally fogs in the morning but rarely later than 9 a.m. Fruit orchards are looking bright and thrifty. Peach and some other trees, whose tops had few or no leaves at the proper time, have lately taken on complete follage and never looked better.

Riverside—The Press states that the recent rains on the deserts have proved a godsend. The dry desert has assumed a verdant coat, and where in many places a few weeks ago hardy greasewood would scarcely sprout an extra leaf, there is an abundance of wild flowers and truits. Berries are still in market and quite plentiful. Pears and apples are above an average crop. There were three night fogs. Capistrano: Highest temperature, 82 deg.; lowest, 64 deg.

Ray Cottle, secretary of the Los Angeles police department, who lives in the Hotel Catalina, on Broadway, awoke yesterday morning without sufficient money in his clothes to purchase his breakfast.

When he retired at a secronable hour.

When he retired at a seasonable hour Monday night, his trousers pockets were heavy with silver. Ray is a man who, up to yesterday, believed it impossible for a man to enter his room in the dead of night without being heard. He thinks differently now.

Yesterday morning he arose, drew on with a surprised look on his rotund countenance. Ray knew that he had countenance. Ray knew that he had not spent the money.

He was quite certain that he had not loaned it, as none of his acquaintances are "touchers." But the môney, between $12 and $13, being a part of what came to him from the city a few days before, was gone. The trousers had been left on a chair, with his watch and revolver, at the head of the bed. They were in the same old place, but the money had vanished like a dream.

Ray remembered that he had heard a shrill feminine shriek during the night, but had slept on.

Ray remembered that he had heard a shrill feminine shriek during the night, but had slept on.

The thief had stealthlly turned the key in the lock, and, entering the room, had removed the coin from the trousers and slipped out.

A woman who rooms directly across the hall from Cottle's room was suffering with headache that night, and had not gone to sleep. About 2:30 o'clock she heard the soft footfalls of the thief as he tried to enter her room. She pressed the call bell and screamed lustily, and the thief walked down stairs just as Landlord Judd was awakening. No trace of the thief could be found.

When Ray reached the station yesterday morning it was before the banks were open, and he had to borrow money to buy his breakfast.

All day long he was joked with by the officers, and Detective Bradish remarked that "A robber had sunk pretty low who would sjeal from a policeman." There is no suspicion that the man who robbed Cottle is the same who plundered Police Justice Morrison's house a few days ago.

Humane Society.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Humane Society, yesterday afternoon, the report of the officer showed seven cases reported of cruelty to animals, all of which had been relieved. Four sick or crippled horses and one dog were killed, and two cases of cruelty are still pending in the court. Officer Clark has had his time more than fully occupied this month, in looking after imprudent and wayward girls, many of whom have been provided with homes and others persuaded to a more wholesome life. A case of eight members of a family occupying one small room was investigated. Several children in the care of improper parents were taken charge of by the society, and provided with homes. Cases of cruelty to children at Pasadena, Long Beach and Redondo, have been looked after and the cruelty abated.

I have suffered intensely during that time and have spent large sums of money in the employment of St. Louis's most prominent physicians. Aside from this I have had recourse. I believe, to nearly every medicine on the market, supposed to be infallible in such cases as mine—and many gallons of hot water have been used by physicians in washing (internally) my stomach. But all to no avail; the relief afforded was only temporary. Of late I have given up all thoughts of ever being permanently cured. Some time ago I started to use Ripans Tabules at the suggestion of my son, who advised me to try them. Since then I can say I am feeling daily some better. I take one Tabule after each meal and I san now look forward to meal-time with a pleasure I haven't

"For the information of depositors and in reply to an occasional inquiry as to whether deposits in savings banks may not at some future day be repaid in a circulating medium other than and inferior to gold coin, the San Francisco Savings Union, with the approval of its board of directors, defines its position as follows:

"First—Contracts for the payment of gold coin are lawful under the statutes of both California and the United States, having been so declared by the Supreme courts of each, and as the constitutions of both State and nation forbid the enactment of laws impairing the obligation of contracts, it follows that creditors may collect in gold coin when such payment is stipulated. "Second—All evidences of indebtedness held by the Savings Union call for payment in gold coin. Payment in that coin will be required from debtors, and the bank will repay depositors in the coin collected.

wise between the bains and as now."

A FREE-COINAGE LESSON. Some of the effects of free coinage in a South American republic have been pointed out in a published communication by the United States Minister of Colombia, Mr. McKinney, who says that twenty years ago, in 1876, gold and silver were coined in the mints of Colombia, both being slegal tender for all debts, and at that time, owing to the scarcity of the white metal, silver was at a premium over gold of about 3 per cent. About 1880 gold was at a premium, because the imports exceeded the exports. Up to 1885 the government continued to coin gold and silver, and at that time gold was at a premium over silver of about 20 per cent. In 1885 the Congress passed a law that made paper money a legal tender for all debts, the paper to be payable in gold or silver at the option of the government, this being an attempt to put silver at par with gold. At once the gold and silver at a parity. From that time to this, it appears, there has been no gold in circulation in Colombia. The effect of this was to raise the premium on gold from 20 per cent. in 1885 to 190 per cent. in 1895. At the date of the communication, June 17, exchange on New York was 140, the price of exchange depending wholly on the number of drafts on the market, and the demand for them.

FRUIT-GRADING WAREHOUSES. Commenting upon the need of ware-houses for the grading of dried or cured fruit, which is being generally felt by fruit-dryers throughout California, the fruit-dryers throughout California, the California Fruit Grower says:

"If this particular branch of the fruit industry ever assumes the position to which the magnitude of the interest and the excellence of its product would both seem to entitle it, it will only do so when some kind of system is evolved out of the chaos which at present envelops it. Buyers have only too good an excuse for handling this product very gingerly, and yet we do not mean to either state or insinuate that those engaged in the business are entirely to blame for this state of affairs. While all must admit that the present mode of grading and packing is imperfect and unsatisfactory, as well as inadequate to a profitable marketing of the product; still, we all know also, that mode of grading and packing is imperfect and unsatisfactory, as well as inadequate to a profitable marketing of the product; still, we all know also, that no satisfactory grading can be accomplished by the individual, unless he is engaged in drying upon a very large scale. The only royal road out of the difficulty would be to establish large grading-houses at different points of shipment throughout the fruit districts, where shippers could meet, for the purpose of sampling and grading the fruit. If possible, an inspector should be retained, whose business or duty it should be to issue certificates to accompany bills of lading. Eastern buyers frequently sell their purchases while in transit and thereby become responsible to a third party for the weight and quality of the goods, and in cases of this kind the certificate would be a very satisfactory document to them, while, as things now exist, they have nothing but the unsupported statement of the shipper. Something in the nature of a guarantee from the shipper would be very gratefully regarded by large eastern buyers. Packages should also be improved upon, and if it is thought best to use boxes, a better class of boxes should be used; or, if sacks are most desirable, a superior article of sacking should be provided. With the grading warehouse once established, however, these other advantages would naturally follow."

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

A BIG WINERY. The Fresno Expositor says the California Wine Association is about to erect a winery and distillery in that city at a cost of $250,-600. The paper thus describes the building:

distillery in that city at a cost of $250.-600. The paper thus describes the building:

"The storage cellar, 140x100, will stand between two vast circular fermenting cellars, each of which will be 160 feet in diameter. In the storage cellar there will be placed ten 50,000 gallons capacity. The crushing machinery will, of course, be located in the fermenting cellars, high above the tanks, which will receive the pulp. Of these tanks in each fermenting cellar there will be ninety-six, arranged in four circles. Each tank will be 3000 gallons capacity. The association expects to crush each season more than 20,000 (tons of grapes, and the annual output of the establishment, if worked to its full capacity, will be more than 1,500,000 gallons of sweet wine."

The idea seems to be to work up the low-grade raisin grapes into sweet wines and brandy. The market for wines and brandy. The market for wines is greatly improved and prices this year will be good. The raisin market would be greatly relieved by tak-ing out the low-grade grapes.

TO REVOLUTIONIZE WEAVING. It might be supposed that modern labor-saving machinery had been brought to such perfection that there San Francisco Savings brought to such perfection that there was little-chance fo further improvement. Such, however, is not the case, and from time to time further improvements are devised which still more reduce the number of men required to produce a given quantity of a manufactured article.

The latest important invention of this description comes from San Francisco, where it is stated that an inventor has devised an attachment for looms which promises to revolutionize the weaving trade, reducing the cost of fabrics and cloth, and of course greatly lessening the number of persons now employed in the industry. This invention, which is described as being very simple, it is said, will affect a saving of fom 30 to 50 per cent. in the cost of weaving. The San Francisco Call gives the following particulars in regard to this important in the kind of coin specified, which is particulars in regard to this importan particulars in regard to this important invention:

"It has always been known to weavers that the discovery of a mechanism that would dispense with the bobbin and weave with a continual supply of weft, would be hailed with delight by every weaving-factory of the world, and such a discovery would be the most useful and valuable invention of the century. The attachment lately built and completed by the Hunt Loom and Fabric Company accomplishes all this, and its importance can therefore be readily understood.

"The mechanism of the attachment consists of a small feeder three inches long by two inches wide, a little measuring device made of two small hollow tubes and a pair of nippers on each end of the carrier, (shuttle.) All this is given motion by two cams about two and a half inches in diameter. The whole mechanism works with precision, and it handles the thread as if it had whole mechanism works with precision, and it handles the thread as if it had life and intelligence. By its use the loom weaves without interruption, and while an old loom weaves sixty yards this will weave 100 yards, and at about loom weaves without interruption, and while an old loom weaves sixty yards this will weave 100 yards, and at about half the cost.

"It is a great labor-saving device, and it is estimated that the application of these attachments to looms will enable one man to do the same work that now requires afteen men. This aloae effects a wonderful saving in the cost of weaving, and it is readily apparent that the universal use of the device means a great saving of money to the masses, for it will of necessity greatly reduce the cost of manufacturing cloths, and consequently lower their cost to consumers.

"Another great feature of this invention is its low cost to manufacturers and its adaptability to looms of all kinds. Estimates made by those who are willing to contract for the manufacture of the device, place the cost of building them in quantities at $10 in California, $6 in Boston and $5 in England. The possibilities for profits on this machine are enormous, as a few figures will demonstrate. In the United States there are about 1,000,000 looms in operation, and each year this number is increasing. In Europe there are about 14,000,000 looms, and in other parts of the world there are in the neighborhood of 5,000,000, making a grand total in the world of some 20,000,000 looms.

"As the use of the attachment will effect such a vast saving in the cost of weaving, it will be readily understood that the adoption of the attachment by one factory will force others to follow suit in order to compete in the prices of their products. As the invention has been patented in the great weaving centers of the world, it will compel those using the attachment to pay for the privilege of using it, and the company introducing it is therefore bound to reap a golden harvest by the universal adoption of the device on the looms of the world."

NEW YORK MARKETS.

Shares and Money. (BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The course of the stock market clearly reflected the intervention of the aggressive bull leadership, and the temper at the close of business was much temper at the close of business was much more cheerful than for some time past. This theory was borne out by the failure of the determined efforts made by the bears to emphasize several unfavorable developments, including the suspension of the Murray Hill Bank, a disappointing exhibit made by the St. Paul for the first week, recurrence of stiff money rates, and unsatisfactory government crop statistics. London was inclined to the bull side, owing to the smoothness with which the fortnightly settlement has progressed in the American department, and further weakness in the exchange market offset the comparatively high rates for money. Confidence in an early amicable arrangement to rate between the Southern roads was also expressed. A feature of operations was again the execution of numerous small cash investment orders, and in addition to the pool supply, the market was strengthened by the heavy covering purchases by some of the bear leaders, who appreciated the change in the speculative conditions and turned abruptly. Business was on a fairly large scale, with Sugar and St. Paul leading, and was well distributed. The market opened strong and higher, but the tendency toward improvement was soon checked by a vigorous drive by the bears, announcement of the suspension of the Murray Hill Bank. In the resulting declines Northwest dropped 2% to 86%; Sugar, 1½ per cent. London Financial Market.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The Svening Post's London financial cablegram says the more favorable symptoms which were cabled yesterday were fully justified by today's markets. They opened firm, the improvement being led by Americans. The account was easily arranged. A few weak individuals had to pay 3% per cent for contangoes on Americans, but the bulk of the carry over was done at 26445 per cent. The best feature of today's business is that the low price of Americans undoubtedly attracted small investors among the public. A slow rise is what is wanted now to restore confidence here, and not a wild rush up. Tonight prices are going ahead rather foat, street quotations being the best of the day, and % of a dollar above the house prices. Some buying for the continents is reported. The other markets responded to the more cheerful tone, and Kaffrs were much stronger, the published output of gold from the Rand for July being the largest on record.

Boston Wool Market.

Boston Wool Market.

Boston Wool Market here continues dull and featureless, and it is only small lots here and there that are being sold. The reports of salesmen who have visited the mills show that the manufacturers as a rule have little wool on hand, but no amount of persuesica can induce them to make a purchase. The price of wool is not materially different in any line as far as can be ascertained, but there is not enough selling of the different grades to establish a quotation. Fleece wool continues without change. The market for Australian wools holds steady, and buyers in need of supplies are forced to pay the market rate. The following are quotations of leading descriptions:

Farmers Report Good Crops and

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 11.—(Regular Correspondence.) Nearly all our farmers have lemons to sell. They nearly all belong to the Lemon Exchange, and are just now getting fancy prices. There are now several carloads of choice fruit in the curing-house, and more are constantly coming in. Manager Little is only shipping in carload ager Little is only shipping in carload lots, and will send out another car Saturday. He employs a number of hands constantly at the packing-house, and pickers are at work every day all over the valley. Deciduous fruits have also paid well this year, being scarce and selling at good prices. A splendid hay crop was harvested in the upper end of the valley, and good figures were realized. Summer vegetables are in great abundance and cheap, although there is an unusual demand for them on account of the great number of laborers employed in various new enterprises in and about the city. With the financial question settled, local improvements would double, and local business would be greatly increased.

LAWN FETE.

LAWN FETE. The lawn fete in the gardens at the Parochial Church this afternoon and Parochial Church this afternoon and evening was a complete success. The grounds were decorated with long lines of swinging Japanese lanterns, huge and gaudy umbrellas and other attractions, with the United States, Mexican and Irish flags floating over all. The programme was the same both afternoon and evening, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, dialogues, recitations, dances, etc., and was arranged and executed entirely by the little ones. Miss Sallie Taylor took more than an ordinary part in these arrangements. Light refreshments were served on the lawn and fortunes were told by a real gypsy. There was a big crowd out tonight, and every feature of the programme was highly enjoyable, especially the cachucha dance. The children who took active part in this excellent entertainment were as follows:

There are now on the Great Register of this county 5137 names. The names still in the hands of registration agents in the upper part of the county will probably swell the number of legal voters in this county at the coming election to 5300. Well-posted politicians can now take the list and tell where campaign work will do the most good. Ellwood Cooper stated today that one-half his annual output of oil is now marketed and the remainder will dispose of itself without exertion on his part before the new crop comes in.

Superintendent G. E. Thurmond returned today from the State Association of county superintendents at San Francisco and reports an interesting session. Messrs. The owners of the new lumber yard at Summerland talk of bringing lumber direct from the mills and "surf" it ashore to save wharfage.

Nell Smith has just returned from a pleasure trip to Ventura county. He enjoyed a trip up the Ojai and witnessed the killing of a huge cinnamon bear.

PASADENA, Aug. 11.—(Regular Correspondence.) The free-silver paper PASADENA, Aug. 11.—(Regular Correspondence.) The free-silver paper started in Pasadena two weeks ago, and of which two issues have been made, suspended business today, as its capital was not equal to its aspirations, and it was found that the free-silver sentiment in this community, though expressed loud, long and often by those who hold it, is not sufficiently strong to support a paper. The merchants gener-ally have frowned on the exploiting of doctrines which are held here as in imical to business, and advertising was slow to come in. As there was already in the field a weekly paper covering the local, social, literary and other gossip, the failure of the Free Lance was a foregone conclusion, SANTA MONICA, Aug. 11.—(Regular correspondence.) All of the City Trusces were present at the board meeting Monday evening, at which time action was taken on the question of advertis Monday evening, at which time action was taken on the question of advertising for sale a street-railway franchise, in accordance with an application of the Pasadena and Pacific Railway Company. Trustee Carrillo's motion to defer action one week was lost by the negative votes of Trustees Gillis, Hostetter and Jones. Trustee Roth's motion to strike out the Utah-avenue portion of the franchise was lost by a like vote. Attention was called to the fact that some of the routes in the proposed franchise were for streets for which the Pasadena and Pacific Company already has franchises, and Trustee Roth moved to strike out such portions. The motion was seconded by Trustee Carrillo, but was lost by a vote of Trustees Gillis, Hostetter and Jones. A provision that the grantee of the franchise must bear an equitable portion of certain bridge repairs was, on motion, inserted.

L. T. Fisher, from the spectators, inquired if the franchise contemplated that the grantee should give anything in return for the valuable privileges, to which query Trustee Roth laconically replied "None." A motion of Trustee Gillis to advertise the franchise for sale was put, and it prevalled by a vote of Trustees Gillis, Hostetter and Jones, Trustees Roth and Carrillo voting in the negative. None of the members voting in the affirmative made remarks defending their position.

Dissatisfaction Over the City License

LONG BEACH, Aug. 11.-(Regular Correspondence.) Since the matter of disincorporation has now been thrown into court, Marshall Kinman has begun the work of collecting the city license, upon the recently-adopted scale, with a persistency which greatly annoys the various payees. With but few exceptions, he says, there seems to be but little serious objection to paying, although in many cases time is asked for, and in some cases also refuge is sought in the showing of sales averaging less than $500 per month, thus reducing the tax on merchants from $20 to $10. MOVEMENT ON FOOT TO DISINCORPORATE.

There is a movement in Orange to disincorporate the town. A petition is now being circulated and, according to reports, it is being quite liberally signed.

It is not probable, however, that the question will come to a vote as it is believed that a majority of the citizens are thought to be decidedly opposed to any such retrograde movement.

It is stated that the movement to disincorporate has been brought about by the saloon element.

WHITTIER, Aug. 11.-(Regular Corwill thek, Aug. II.—(Kegular Correspondence.) George Morrow had his preliminary examination yesterday before Judge Owens on the charge of assault with intent to do great bodily injury upon the persons of Stern and Character. Guarado. It appears from the evidence that some time ago Stern and Guarado went to the Morrow place, between Rivera and Downey, and took Miss Morrow and a Miss King buggy-riding, driving up to Whittier. On their return, toward midnight, George Morrow, accompanied by some others, laid in waiting for them near Rivera, and stopped the team, assaulted Guarado first, with a club, and then gave Stern a similar beating, both being rendered insensible for a time; he then took charge of the team, a hired one, and drove the girls home, leaving the team there. It was quite a serious incident, Guarado. It appears from the eviden nothing was said about it by them un-til it leaked out from the Morrows. Then the arrest was made, the exam-ination resulting in George Morrow being held to answer to the Superior Court, under bonds of $500, by Justice

Through dark alleys the race led until Chinatown was reached. The Dursued turned out of an alley in the celestials' domain just as Lyman entered it. The constable endeavored to get his police whistle from his pocket, but could not and drew his revolver and fired a shot in the air.

The report was heard by a number of policemen and they quickly ran to the spot, hemming the fellow in. Lyman overtook his man, placed him under arrest, and took him to Police Headquarters, where he gave the name of Joe Binkley, and said he was a potato peddler.

He will be arraigned in Police Court this afternoon on a charge of petit larceny.
